Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. — Gen. John D. Johnson, whose resignation as National Recovery Administrator was accepted Oct. 15, has no intention of remaining a member of the Roosevelt administration. On the contrary, there is a lively possibility that he will become one of its fiercest critics soon after the inauguration of the new President.

Johnson is not talking about the foregoing facts, but they follow, were observed today from a source of unquestionable authority.

Notwithstanding the exchange of amenities which attended Johnson's departure from the administration, there is no doubt that he has been deeply embittered by the events which surrounded his resignation. He feels, and has expressed to personal friends, that he built NRA into a successful organization, and that it was taken away from him and given over to his enemies.

But toward Richberg, Johnson is especially bitter. He feels that Richberg, general counsel to the President, has been working to undermine his position, and that he has been the victim of Richberg's machinations.

Johnson has not yet decided what he will do, except that he will take a vacation, beginning next week, during which he will complete an autobiography which he has been writing.

Johnson has a large number of lucrative offers from various organizations, but he has declined them all, saying that he is not yet ready to make a decision.

SAYS HE FALSIFIED RECORDS TO REPAY THEFT BY ANOTHER

Bank Clerk Pleads Guilty
But Asserts He Was Try-

Stolen From His Cage.

Matthew C. Babick, former teller at the Boatmen's National Bank, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Davis today, of embezzlement and falsifying his records, then told the judge he had not embezzled and had falsified only in order to repay funds stolen from his cage by someone else.

Babick was charged with embezzlement of $330.05 and with violating the National Banking Act by falsifying his records.

"I started working for the bank 17 years ago today," he told the judge. "I live with my widowed mother at 811 L street, Madison. I have never owned an automobile. I have always lived well within my means. I have never gambled."

"But about two years ago, while I was at lunch, $2000 of the funds in my cage were stolen. There had been several other thefts at about that time, ranging from $150 to $300, and I was afraid if I reported this one I would lose my job."

"So I falsified the records and started to make the loss good. By the time the shortage was discovered last January I had put back about $1200."

"I made a statement of this to the bank officers and they admitted there was no actual theft on my part. I have never been in trouble. I have handled hundreds of thousands of dollars daily; have had all sorts of opportunities to be a thief, but I am not and I never have been one."

The defendant asked for a parole "So I can start over," and the judge said: "If you will bring any officer of that bank into court who will tell me you did not profit from those transactions I will parole you forthwith."

TWO TALKS BY PRESIDENT
One to Be at Williamsburg and Other at Roanoke, Va.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. — President Roosevelt said today that after participating in the ceremonies inaugurating John Stewart Bryan of Richmond as president of the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va., on Oct. 20, he would motor to Yorktown and board the yacht Sequoia for a leisurely cruise back to Washington.

On Oct. 19 the President will deliver an address at Roanoke, Va., dedicating a new veterans' hospital in that city.

The President will not go to New York Oct. 31 for the dedication of the National History Museum, as originally planned. He has been notified of a delay in completing the memorial. Roosevelt, however, will go to Hyde Park, N. Y., the Saturday before election day. He will cast his vote there and remain at the summer White House over election day.

St. Louis' world champion Cardinals, back from their third-inning romp over the prostrate Detroit Tigers in the final game of the 1934 series, were acclaimed as the city's heroes today.

A downtown parade, over streets strewn with the paper and debris of the celebration which began yesterday afternoon and extended through most of the night, was the city's tribute to the National League pennant-bearers and series-winners, immediately after their arrival from Detroit.

Near the front of the line of parading automobiles, just behind the car reserved for the Mayor and the management, rode triumphantly the brothers Dean—Dizzy, exuberant, bawdy, and Paul, having just as good a time in his more quiet manner over the team's four victories, two of which are credited to the pitching of each Dean.

The 14 machines which carried the team and its officials were beset, in Washington avenue and other streets, by fans whose enthusiasm knew no curbs. It was the job of patient and severely worried policemen to keep a path open for the diamond heroes, riding two to a car.

Thousands at Station.
Thousands of fans, who could not wait even 10 or 15 minutes to greet the Cardinals, crowded into Twentieth street and the open track space adjoining, west of Union Station train shed, where it was announced the players' train would arrive. It backed in ahead of schedule, a few minutes before 8 a. m.

There was a rush of the crowd, first to the rear car, and then, when it was learned that the players were two cars forward, back in that direction.

"Dizzy" and "Paul" were the most insistent of the shouts that arose in the two or three minutes before anyone appeared. Then, in response to the call of his public, the great Jerome Herman emerged on the platform.

"I made a statement of this to the bank officers and they admitted there was no actual theft on my part. I have never been in trouble. I have handled hundreds of thousands of dollars daily; have had all sorts of opportunities to be a thief, but I am not and I never have been one."

The defendant asked for a parole "So I can start over," and the judge said: "If you will bring any officer of that bank into court who will tell me you did not profit from those transactions I will parole you forthwith."

WITNESSES AGREE SLAYER OF SIKO HAD ON GRAY HAT

Six Testifying for State Also Say He Wore Blue Suit—Not Asked to Identi-tify Defendant.

GEORGE COUCH TO USE CHURCH ALIBI

Prosecutor Will Rely on Former Convict's Statements in Killing of Patrolman.

In the trial of George Couch, former convict now charged with the murder of Patrolman Albert Siko, a crime for which Louis De More was once sentenced to life imprisonment, the State will rely on statements attributed to Couch, and is making no effort to obtain from its witnesses identification of him as the robber Siko was pursuing when he was shot and killed.

Couch, his attorney said, will offer an alibi defense, with testimony that on the night of the killing he accompanied his grandmother to church services.

The trial entered its third day today before a jury in Circuit Judge Hogan's court. De More, pardoned last week by Gov. Park, may be a rebuttal witness for the State. For Couch the prosecution is asking the jury to fix the punishment "commensurate with the crime." Death, life imprisonment or acquittal are the only possible verdicts.

Detective's Testimony.
Detective William Giesman took the stand to tell of Couch's arrest last May 14 and the finding of a .38-caliber police revolver, identified as that of the slain policeman, in a house at 3513 Cass avenue, said to be the defendant's address.

When arrested, Couch was living at 1217th boulevard, because of his apparent interest in an altercation between a woman and a taxi driver, Couch gave his name as George Fitzwater, the detective testified. With him was his brother, Russell Couch, who told police he lived at 4344 West Pine boulevard.

After first stating he lived at 3600 Cass avenue, the witness said the defendant claimed to live at the same address given by his brother. Inquiry, however, disclosed he was unknown there.

How, the cross-examination of Thomas E. Fisher, the Wellston street car operator who was held up, Adam Henry Jones, counsel for Couch, got from him the unexpected statement that he now "thinks" Couch was the robber. Fisher was one of those who never identified De More as the robber.

It was brought out that in a deposition preceding the Couch trial Fisher had said he was so confused over the similarity in appearance of Couch and De More he didn't know "which was which."

Eugene Reed, who now lives in East St. Louis, was one of those who had said all along that De More was not the robber. With her on the street car at the time of the holdup was Sadie Dickson, Negro, 3124 Clifton avenue, another witness who had never identified De More. She was a witness for the State yesterday, and described the robber. She was not asked whether she could identify Couch. There was no cross-examination of either of these witnesses.

Henry J. Klingler, lawyer for a commission house at 827 North Fourth street, A. F. Linde, a commission merchant at 818 North Fourth street, and LeRoy Finke, watchman for the Washab Finke road, all of whom witnessed some phase of the pursuit, each described the robber as being dressed in blue and wearing a light gray hat. Klingler testified he had never identified anyone as the robber, and so did Finke. Linde, the testimony showed, had said at the request that De More resembled the robber, but had made no definite identification.

MAN, WIFE HELD IN KANSAS CITY MACHINE GUNNING

Accused of Plotting Attempted Delivery of Frank Nash Who Was Killed With Four Officers

ARRAIGNMENT IS SET FOR TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gala-tas, Living Under Assumed Names, Found in New Orleans.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The Department of Justice disclosed today that Richard Tallman Galatas and his wife Elizabeth were under arrest as principals in the machine-gun murder of Federal and police officers at Kansas City, June 17, 1933, in an attempt to free Frank Nash, a Federal prisoner.

Assistant Attorney-General Stanley said Galatas and his wife, wanted for conspiracy to deliver Nash, were apprehended at New Orleans Sept. 22 and would be arraigned today in Kansas City. Galatas when arrested was using the name of E. W. Lee.

Special Agent R. J. Caffrey of the Division of Investigation; Otto Reed, Chief of Police of McAlester, Ok.; W. J. Grooms and Frank E. Hermanson, as well as their prisoner, Nash, were killed in the Kansas City shooting.

Killing in Station Plaza.
The officers had led Nash, recaptured after his escape from Leavenworth, across the Union Station plaza to a parked automobile. As they reached the car, they were mowed down by machine gun fire at close range.

Stanley said investigation had disclosed that it was Galatas who went to a tourist camp and informed Mrs. Nash that her husband had been arrested by Federal agents at Hot Springs, Ark. He added that Mrs. Nash then communicated with "Doc" Louis Staccini, proprietor of a roadhouse at Melrose Park, Chicago.

In the meantime, Stanley said, Galatas accompanied Mrs. Nash to the home of Herb and Esther Farmer at Joplin, where last minute instructions were telephoned to Vernon C. Miller, former South Dakota sheriff, who Stanley said was the actual leader of the machine-gunners.

Mrs. Nash, Farmer and his wife, Staccini and the Galatas are under arrest. Miller was killed later by other gangsters.

Still After "Pretty Boy."
Stanley said the Division of Investigation was pressing its search for Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, notorious Oklahoma bank robber and machine gunner, and his traveling companion, Adam Richetti.

The night before the machine-gunners attempted to free Nash, Sheriff Jack Killingsworth of Bolivar, Mo., was released in Kansas City by Floyd and Richetti who had kidnapped him that morning.

"Vernon C. Miller was identified as the leader of the gunmen," said the department's statement, "and through exhaustive investigation it has been conclusively established that the other assassins were Charles Arthur (Pretty Boy) Floyd, identified De More as the robber, and the latter's lieutenant, Adam Richetti."

By the Associated Press.

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 10.—Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia, a sister of King Carol of Rumania, who learned at Briancon the King had been assassinated, viewed his body today where he died. She found him on a couch in the Police Prefecture.

For 20 minutes she remained alone, kneeling beside her husband's body, as Francois Pietri, French Minister of the Navy, and others withdrew.

Marie was shaken by grief when she learned of the death aboard her train and fainted several times during the night. When she arrived here she apparently regained her composure, although showing signs of strain.

The Queen arrived in the early dawn aboard a special train with only four passengers. Mme. Edouard Herriot, wife of the former Premier, caught the train along the line late at night and tried to comfort her. She took with her black, so the Queen could arrive dressed in mourning. The only others were the lady-in-waiting and Court Marshal Dimitrijevitich.

Pietri met the Queen and expressed his and France's grief. Then, walking steadily between the Court Marshal and Mme. Jouhannaud, wife of the Marseilles Prefect, who was with the King when he died, and who closed his eyes, Marie entered an automobile and was driven swiftly past bare-headed, silent little groups to the Prefecture.

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 10.—Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia came to Marseilles today to claim her dead, while all Europe waited to measure the effect of King Alexander's assassination. Late in the day the King's body was started back to Jugo-Slavia on the warship which brought him here.

Another death resulting from yesterday's shooting occurred. Mme. Dubree, a widow, who was wounded by bullets from the same weapon that was used to kill King Alexander, and France's Foreign Minister, Louis Barthou, died at a hospital.

Others who were killed were a police officer and the assassin himself, Petrus Kalemek.

The condition of 14 persons who were wounded when the 38-year-old assassin opened fire on the King's carriage was improved. Gen. Alfense Joseph Georges of the French Superior War Council, is expected to recover, along with the others.

Body Put on Warship.
The body of the King was placed aboard the destroyer Dubrovnik this afternoon to be returned to Jugo-Slavia.

Meanwhile Alexander's 11-year-old son started from his English boarding school for Belgrade to become King under a regency. At 4 p. m., exactly 24 hours after he had set foot in France, the assassinated King was taken to the Jugo-Slav destroyer. Thousands of spectators were in the streets as the body passed.

President Albert Lebrun of France, shocked by the tragedy, was here with many ministers of the Cabinet.

Public Doesn't See Body.
None of the public viewed Alexander's body here, for the Queen said she wished to reserve the opportunity for the people to show respect until the body reached Belgrade.

It was learned here that Pope Pius had granted the King absolution at 7 p. m. yesterday. Alexander's aunt, the Dowager Princess Nathalie of Montenegro, who is the sister of his mother, motored to Marseilles from her home in Antibes.

Minister of Interior Sarraut, Who Heads Secret Service, May Be Forced to Resign.

PROCLAMATION BY DOUMERGUE

National Funeral for Foreign Minister Barthou Will Be Held Saturday Morning.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 10.—The French Government was shaken today by political consequences of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Foreign Minister Barthou. A storm was brewing over responsibility for failure to protect King Alexander.

Premier Gaston Doumergue temporarily has taken over the Foreign Affairs portfolio of the late Louis Barthou, determined that the latter's work for peace and security shall not be wasted.

King Alexander's old tutor, M. de Voynovich, who said good-bye to the King at Belgrade and then came to Paris, was outspoken on what he called the "police failure" in the assassination. He said the King traveled freely with his own people, mixed often and only recently went to Sofia, "yet in Marseilles, nest, full of gangsters, it is only by failure of the police that he could have been assassinated."

Secret Service Head Criticized.
Albert Sarraut, as Minister of Interior, heads all police and directly commands the Surete Generale, or secret service specifically charged with Alexander's protection. Sarraut, however, believed his resignation might be forced.

Interpretation has already been filed in the Chamber of Deputies and some newspapers have been violently critical.

If Sarraut resigns there will be vacancies in the Cabinet, which already is leading opponents to suggest that the time has come to overhaul the Government of "tragically weakened authority."

A hasty Cabinet session was held yesterday, after which Doumergue, president Albert Lebrun, Edouard Herriot and Andre Tardieu went to Marseilles.

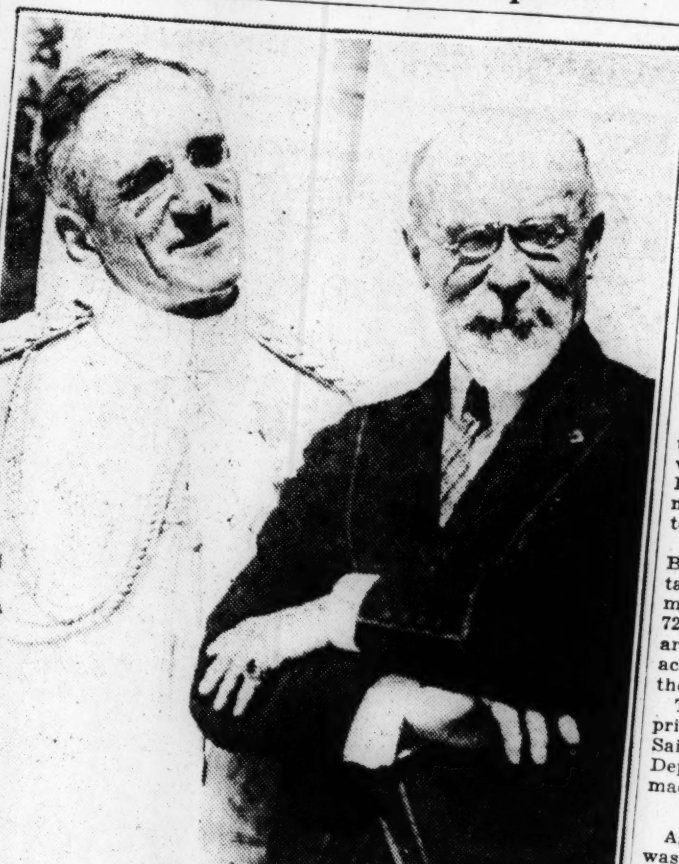

The Government sought every means of showing grief to avert any unfavorable outburst in Yugoslavia, which might loosen the bonds of France's driving force in politics of the Little Entente.

Censorship was imposed to prevent any damaging interpretation being suggested from Paris by European correspondents. All flags, civil and military, were put at half staff.

A proclamation, signed by Doumergue, expressing grief of the nation, was posted throughout France.

National Funeral for Barthou.
Saturday morning will be held members of his funeral for Barthou. A simple ceremony, but a Cabinet decision a national expression of grief was proper and that the Barthou's wishes might be disregarded under the circumstances of his tragic death.

Barthou was the master mind of the ambitious plan of reconciliation between Italy and Yugoslavia. Mussolini could be drawn into the peace pact in Central Europe with the Little Entente.

11-YEAR-OLD BOY BECOMES KING OF JUGO-SLAVIA

Where his tutor, C. C. Parrott, and the headmaster were seated, there was always a visitor, a young boy, who was the son of King Peter Kara-

No Time for Farewells.
Breakfast was hastily served and without time even to bid his schoolmates goodbye, he was en route by automobile for his country's legation here, his ultimate destination being Belgrade.

He took along only one small brown suitcase, regulation equipment for boys at a preparatory school. He was dressed simply in a gray flannel suit and still wore his scholar's cap. His tutor and a special detective accompanied him.

After three hours during which a steady stream of diplomatic callers visited the legation, the boy, with a stiff upper lip, he later was hurried to a hotel for a reunion with his maternal grandmother, the Dowager Queen Marie of Romania, and the hotel hoping to catch a glimpse of the lad.

As the young King emerged from the legation and was driven to the hotel, the crowds in front of the building stood in almost deathlike silence. "Here he comes," a quiet group of women, some of them silent weeping.

Diplomatic visitors at the legation, whose flag flew at half staff, included Dino Grandi of Italy, the German Ambassador von Hoesch, and the Australian High Commissioner, Sir Bruce. Other callers included a red-headed priest, several women, three of whom were wiping away tears as they departed.

King George's Secretary Calls.
Sir Olive Wigram, King George's private secretary, called during the morning, driving in a coach, and the sideways outside the fashionable hotel where Queen Marie has been staying were wronged as distinguished visitors to the Queen's temporary residence.

One of the visitors was Prince George, who paid his visit under the title of the Duke for the first time.

At noon, the boy-king joined his grandmother and two hours later left London on the way to Paris. He had looked forward to that day as one he could spend with his father, whom he loved affectionately.

The boy-king, who had at least a motorcycle for his birthday, said much more fun when I am grown up, because then I can do just as I wish like papa does—shoot, and sail, and fly.

The last will of the assassinated King provides that Peter shall be buried in school in England after the funeral.

He Held Nearly Every Important Office Except That of President.

By the Associated Press.
Jean Louis Barthou, France's Foreign Minister and twice Premier, who was assassinated yesterday, had been an important figure in French politics since 1889.

At the time of his death the treaty-collecting senior statesman was talked of as President Albert Lebrun's choice for the next President of the Government of Gaston Doumergue.

During his long political career Barthou held nearly every important office of the French Government except that of President. He was content to look back on their world to conquer.

Orator and Historian.
As France's eldest statesman he was known as one of the most brilliant speakers in the republic and also as one of the nation's leading historians and literary critics.

Frenchmen, who knew him well, cheered him when he appeared in Paris between his flying trips to Warsaw, Prague, Bucharest and Belgrade, as he sat with the rest of the tennis-loving Parisians, with a handkerchief under his hat, and sweltered through the Franco-Croat Cup matches.

Barthou's father, a hard-working merchant, could not afford to send his ambitious young son to study abroad. So Barthou studied at home until he was able to hang out his own shingle at the city of Pau, near his home.

A Deputy.
Political life was his ambition, and in 27 years old he went with the Chamber of Deputies. After that the name of Barthou became national property.

He was Minister of Public Works in the Cabinet of Charles Dumery in 1884. Poincare made his debut as Finance Minister in the same Cabinet.

A succession of ministry posts followed. In the Melles Cabinet Barthou was Minister of the Interior and Minister of Public Works.

Barthou lost a son in the World War, during which he served as Minister Without Portfolio in Poincare's Cabinet.

His most important contribution after the war was the three years' service he pushed through the German military preparations before war was declared in 1914.

War in 1921 and he represented France at the Geneva conference in 1922, a year in which he served as Senator and headed the Reparations Commission.

By 1929 he had held almost every important office France had to offer. Then President Doumergue called on him to form another ministry as Premier successor to Andre Tardieu.

Just this year the main line of a railroad near Bludenz, Austria, was blown up by a bomb just a few minutes after the express carrying Barthou to Paris had passed.

In Geneva Barthou was the prime mover to bring Russia into the League of Nations.

and the Dubrovnik started on its journey. The Queen started for Paris to join the new King, Peter, to take him back home.

King's Dying Words.
King Alexander's last thoughts were of his duty—the task which he had undertaken.

Preserve Franco-Yugo-Slav friendship," he muttered before he lapsed into a coma, to his friend and Foreign Minister, Bogoljub Jevitch.

Barthou died as he whispered: "I am so thirsty."

Premier Gaston Doumergue has taken charge of foreign affairs. How King Was Killed.

Kalemen used a new type of sub-machine gun pistol which fired 10 shots at one pressure of the trigger. When the firing ended Alexander and Barthou were mortally wounded.

While Alexander fell instantly, Barthou was able to leave the car. Then he fainted in the arms of a policeman and died an hour and a half later.

Surgeons disclosed that Barthou died believing Alexander escaped injury.

"Was the King hurt?" he asked. Barthou murmured, "I am happy to know I was the only one wounded."

Barthou bled to death from a severed artery.

The assassin tried to shoot himself in the mouth. Saber slashes and bullets from police prevented him. He bore a tattooed death's head on his arm with the motto "Liberty or Death."

A band of Croatian separatists believed by the police to have chosen the King—a task which the assassin knew meant certain death for him.

Kalemen's clothes were new. They had been bought in the department store La Balmain in Paris where he had spent several days previous to his arrival in Marseilles.

The new clothes were said by the police to be of the same material as the new clothes of the assassin.

When the King recovered his composure he asked if his sister Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, was safe. Informed that she had not been attacked, Carol exclaimed: "Thank God!"

The young Crown Prince asked the Prime Minister to convey his deepest sympathy to his cousin and old playmate, Crown Prince Peter.

of Petrus Kalemen, assassin of King Alexander, were the objects of a police search today when it was discovered they stayed at a hotel here with Kalemen shortly before the crime.

Police learned Kalemen fortified himself with alcohol a few hours before he killed the Jugo-Slav monarch at Marseilles.

Kalemen and one companion named Chalmy passed two nights at the hotel, while the other man, named Kramer, disappeared Monday morning.

The assassin and Chalmy had breakfast in their room yesterday morning, after which they drank considerable liquor, the proprietor said. After lunch they left the hotel together.

Chalmy returned alone at 6:30 p. m., dined, paid the hotel bill and disappeared.

The proprietor said Kalemen eagerly read all news of the King's impending visit, in the hotel reading room, just before he left Aix.

Kalemen, who arrived Sunday night, Chalmy never filled out the obligatory hotel record for the police. Whenever the propriety of the formalities about it he spoke to brother of one of his companions who arrived Sunday afternoon and gave the name of Egon Kramer, 24 years old and born in Fiume of Croatian nationality.

The other man gave the name of Sylvester Chalmy and said he was a Czech-Slovakian. They said they were on their way to Paris.

King of Rumania Weeps AT NEWS OF ASSASSINATION

Inquires About Safety of His Sister, Widow of Slain Jugo-Slav Monarch.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 10.—King Carol of Rumania, brother-in-law of the slain King Alexander, burst into tears when informed by Premier Tarescu of the King's death. The young Crown Prince Mihail, who was also present, sobbed convulsively.

When the King recovered his composure he asked if his sister Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, was safe. Informed that she had not been attacked, Carol exclaimed: "Thank God!"

The young Crown Prince asked the Prime Minister to convey his deepest sympathy to his cousin and old playmate, Crown Prince Peter.

Police found no accomplices. The sent France a list of suspects and 15 persons were arrested before King Alexander's arrival, as a preventive measure. Kalemen's name was not on the suspect list.

City an Armed Camp.
Today Marseilles was virtually an army camp. The policing of the city had been taken over by thousands of steel-helmeted mobile guards armed with carbines. They poured into the city all through the night by train and truck.

The prefecture was surrounded by back the great crowds in the vicinity. Every person entering the line of guards was closely examined. Even such an article as a rolled newspaper was unrolled to guard against the possibility of a concealed weapon.

Separatists Taken Into Custody Today, Documents Seized After Assassination of King.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 10.—Leaders of the Jugo-Slavian Separatist movement and refugees were rounded up today in a widespread search for King Alexander's assassin.

An undisclosed number were held for questioning.

The homes of dozens of Jugo-Slavs searched yielded photographs and documents which police are examining. The homes of Sotnik Pribitchevitch, former Jugo-Slav Minister of the Interior, and Vladimir Raditch, son of a member of the Jugo-Slav Parliament who was shot and killed on the floor of Parliament three years ago, were among those searched. Documents were seized in the former Minister's apartment.

Photographs Are Seized.
Two Jugo-Slavs who appeared yesterday at the door while police were searching for Raditch, were taken into custody, together with a third man, old Gloria, who appeared to be a lookout. Police found on one of the men, Nume, a member of a Jugo-Slavian society, Supreme Court Justice.

Others whose residences were searched were President Azanovitch, Vice-President Bogoljub Jevitch, a Slav Separatist, and a Jugo-Slavian social worker, Poluga Dusan, a flag of the child's aunt, who is president of an association of Jugo-Slavs in Paris. Several other Jugo-Slavs were questioned, as well as a child by her mother, Ivo Passaritch, correspondent for the Paris newspaper Zvezda.

Latin Quarter Was Watched.
Police also visited the headquarters of a Jugo-Slavian society, then on the cafe in Clichy, Paris suburb, practically took exception to any who came there.

Meeting there three months ago, Latin quarter cafes and bars, were guarded by Jugo-Slavs have been under close scrutiny for some time, police said, presumably as a precautionary measure preliminary to the King's visit.

Asked whether Mrs. Morgan's testimony substantiated her affidavit in her affidavit, she said she had not read it and did not know.

Among the papers in Mrs. Morgan's home, she said, she had found a letter from Mrs. Morgan, who had asked about her daughter's whereabouts, and she said she had found a letter from Mrs. Morgan, who had asked about her daughter's whereabouts.

Maid Cross-Examined.
The morning session of the trial of the French maid, Marie Therese, was devoted to her previous testimony involving Mrs. Morgan's death.

The Marchioness Millicent Blandford, who was a witness in the trial, was asked to make an affidavit in support of her testimony.

William E. Beckmann, who was a witness in the trial, was asked to make an affidavit in support of his testimony.

LETTER DISCLOSES EFFORTS TO HIDE INSULL CO. ASSETS

Investment Banker Wrote
"to Have Them Known Would in Great Measure Defeat Purpose."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Government prosecutors in the Samuel Insull mail fraud trial yesterday introduced a short letter, exchanged, they asserted, between officers of Halsey, Stuart & Co., La Salle street investment house.

Special Assistant Attorney-General
Leslie E. Salter, who in fighting defense objections had termed the letter "the heart of this case," read it to the jury as part of the Government's description of how Insull's Corporation Securities Co. of Chicago was formed in October of 1929.

The prosecutor emphasized one phase. It said:
"The minute we disclose the assets of the company it will in great measure defeat the purpose of the whole thing."

V. Lamont, formerly controller of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and now operating a poultry farm in Indiana, identified the initials "C. B. S." on the bottom of the letter as those of Charles B. Stuart, vice-president of Halsey, Stuart & Co. and in charge of its New York office.

Lamont also testified that initials on a carbon copy taken from the files of Corporation Securities Co. were those of Harry L. Stuart, president of the corporation banking house, and Clarence T. Mac Neille, secretary-treasurer of Corporation Securities Co.

The "I Interests."
Prior to introduction of the letter earlier minutes had been read to show that the Corporation Securities Co. was organized in October, 1929, by the "I Interests," composed of Samuel Insull Sr.; his brother, Martin J., and his son, Samuel Jr., and by H. L. Stuart, C. B. Stuart and Charles W. Sullivan.

The letter, dated Aug. 29, 1929, was addressed to F. K. Shrader, vice-president in 1929-31 of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and a director of the Corporation Securities Co. of Chicago. As read to the jury it said:
"In connection with the new company I told my brother this morning in my opinion I thought we would make a great mistake in listing either the preferred or the common stock on any exchange. It will always be an easy matter to list it later if we desire to do so, but it will be very difficult to ever get it off any exchange."

"I do not know how Goldman Sachs and the rest of them get by the blue sky laws. But certainly there must be some answer to it.
Even though we have to stay out of some of the states I cannot see that it makes a great deal of difference."

"Isn't there some way we can sell in the State of Illinois on the basis that a purchaser accepted it knowing that it has not been qualified.
If we cannot do it this way would it not be possible to make all confirmations from New York City and in this way could we not get around the Illinois blue sky laws?"

If Assets Are Disclosed.
"In my opinion, the minute we disclose the assets of the company it will, in great measure, defeat the purpose of the whole thing."
"My brother is in favor of not listing any place, if there is any way around it. It is my understanding that in listing on the Curb we do not have to disclose all of the assets at any time. Another possibility of listing down here would be the Produce Exchange."

"What about the requirements of the Curb market in Chicago?"
Lamont, who quit his position with the investment banking house to rest in the country, was the Government's first witness offering direct testimony in the mail fraud case, which revolves about two stock selling campaigns the prosecutor term a "simple swindle" costing investors about $100,000,000.

Earlier Government attorneys won a two-and-a-half hour legal battle with spokesmen for the eight defense lawyers and succeeded in putting into evidence the minute books which were the corporate "diary" of the Corporation Securities Co.

MOTORIST HURT WHEN AUTO COLLIDES WITH ANOTHER CAR

Marius Eyraud, filling station attendant, was seriously injured early today when the automobile he was driving collided with another machine at the intersection of Market street and Grand boulevard. City Hospital physicians said he had suffered a skull injury and lacerations of the face.
He resides at 4527A Chouteau avenue.

Sol Cytron, 30-year-old druggist, 1237 North Euclid avenue, suffered cuts on the head and head when his automobile veered into a parked car in the 3800 block of Easton avenue after striking a steel tire rim. The rim apparently had fallen from an automobile whose occupants were celebrating the Cardinals' world series victory. Cytron was treated at City Hospital and taken home.

gangster, and was sentenced by Judge R. C. Bell to six months in the county workhouse.

SCHMOLL BEFORE GRAND JURY IN REGISTRATION INVESTIGATION

Circuit Clerk Testifies About Conditions in 13th Ward; Further Inquiry Tomorrow.

The grand jury will continue tomorrow its inquiry into alleged registration frauds. Seven witnesses, including Circuit Clerk John Schmoll, Joseph Linder, an attorney, and several voters of the Forty-second precinct of the Thirteenth Ward, testified yesterday during an all-day session.

Schmoll had announced in an election campaign speech Monday night that he could prove the local registration lists were padded.

The Thirteenth Ward investigation, it was learned, was based on information from a source other than the Non-Partisan Honest Elections Committee, which, headed by Miss Emma Bobb, former chairman of the Election Board, has collected registration complaints in several wards. The Forty-second Precinct of the Thirteenth Ward extends north and west of Gravois avenue, between Elchberger avenue and Delor street, to an irregular line formed by West avenue and Ridgewood avenue.

DRUGGIST FILES AS BANKRUPT

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court today by Harry J. A. Thesen, a druggist at 1821 South Jefferson avenue. He said he was unable to pay the filing fee of $70 and was allowed to sue as a poor person.

Thesen, whose home is at 2842A Russell boulevard, listed liabilities at $7357, including mortgages on the stock and fixtures in his store, and assets at $105. The assets, on which exemption was claimed, were household effects, $55, and apparel, $50.

UNION'S "UNFAIR LIST" ADMITTED IN WEIRTON CASE

Company Allowed to Enter Exhibits Supporting Charge Its Witnesses Were Intimidated.

By the Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 10.—Exhibits presented by the Weirton Steel Co. in an effort to show that its witnesses in the Government's injunction suit were intimidated were admitted in evidence yesterday in Federal Court.

Judge John P. Nields overruled objections to the exhibits. The Government is seeking an injunction to restrain the steel company from interfering in an election of employees to choose collective bargaining representatives.

The exhibits were specimens of an "unfair list" of Clarksburg (W. Va.) business concerns or individuals, sent out by the Amalgamated Union of Iron, Steel & Tin Workers, and designating as "unfair" persons who, it is alleged, made affidavits in behalf of the Weirton company and the employee representation plan.

Closed Shop "Impossible."
Debate over the exhibits had the effect of clarifying the Government's position with respect to the "closed shop." Frank K. Nebeker, chief of Government counsel, told the court the "closed shop is impossible" under Section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The hearing showed the intense rivalry between the Amalgamated Union and the so-called company union at the Clarksburg plant of the Weirton company. The Government contends the Amalgamated is the chosen bargaining agent of the workers and seeks the injunction to end alleged interference with its organization work.

Union Head Testifies.
William C. Millstead, president of the Blue Eagle Lodge of the Amalgamated at Clarksburg, told of his arrest a few months ago on a charge of intimidating company witnesses through the distribution of the "unfair lists." Millstead said he was acquitted.

Earl F. Reed, chief of Weirton counsel, asked Millstead if he knew that the prosecuting attorney gave an opinion that the word "witnesses" in the West Virginia statute did not include persons who filed an affidavit in the current proceeding. Millstead said "No," and explained he understood he was acquitted because of lack of evidence.

Judge Nields admitted in evidence several handbills and letters. The handbills carried in bold-face type the statement, "Unfair to Union Labor." Beneath it read: ing unt old-age hen R. Roosevelt gress.

Meetin gatic Negri clusi

By the As SAN F tary of National ican Fed that vol workers without strikes

One state—Kansas—voted against the plan.

The two largest producers of corn and hogs, Iowa and Illinois, voted almost 3 to 1 in favor of the plan, while early returns from Nebraska, where farm revenue has been estimated to have doubled in the last year, showed only a 200-vote margin for the plan.

The early tabulation of votes in nine states represented about one-third of the 417,000 farmers in these states who signed corn-hog contracts this year. For the 12 states where the referendum was conducted 904,000 contracts were signed.

The vote of the non-signers of AAA contracts was generally unfavorable to the 1935 plan, although no comprehensive figures were given out.

Second Question Voted Down.

The total vote on the second question put to the farmers by the AAA was unfavorable, although only two states voted against the proposal.

On the question, "Do you favor a one-contract-per-farm program deal-

FARMERS VOTING TO GO AHEAD WITH CORN-HOG CONTROL

Returns from Nine States Show 171,459 Favor and 102,549 Oppose Continuation of Program.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Returns thus far received indicate approval of the administration corn-hog program in the farm referendum.

The poll of farmers on continuation of the production control plan is being conducted at county and township meetings throughout the corn belt, under the supervision of county extension workers.

The corn-hog program provides that the farmers who agree to receive a certain acreage from the growing of corn and to limit their production of hogs, will receive benefit payments from the Government.

Vote 171,459 to 102,549. Balloting in the nine states showed 171,459 farmers voted for continuation of the program in 1935, while 102,549 voted against it. AAA officials estimated that 450,000 would cast their votes before final tabulations were made.

No returns have been announced in Michigan and North and South Dakota.

The total vote on the second question put to the farmers by the AAA was unfavorable, although only two states voted against the proposal.

ing with grains and livestock, to become effective in 1935?" Middle Western farmers voted, 119,413 against, and 113,394 for.

Kansas and Nebraska voted overwhelmingly against the proposal, the other states being in favor of the single contract idea.

Likewise, non-signers of contracts were against the 1935 plan.

The tabulation by states on the vote for the 1935 program.

STATE	For	Against	Number of Contracts
Iowa	37,071	14,211	176,000
Illinois	107,728	3,839	125,000
Missouri	30,381	14,804	105,000
Nebraska	14,170	23,925	87,000
Indiana	24,022	13,022	85,000
Kansas	17,429	19,745	79,000
Ohio	10,208	7,110	65,000
Minnesota	13,102	4,758	55,000
Wisconsin	4,054	804	40,000
Total	166,990	100,719	817,000

The number of contracts signed in states where no returns have been tabulated are: South Dakota, 50,000; Michigan, 22,000; and North Dakota, 15,000.

Both Proposals Favored by Missouri Farmers.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 10.—J. W. Burch, State Administrator of the Government corn-hog program, announced final returns of the referendum in Missouri showed farmers both in favor of such a program in 1935 and of a one-contract plan in 1936.

"Producers in the State's 114 counties voted 34,173 to 19,208 in favor of retaining the present corn-hog agreements in effect for another year and by a smaller majority, 26,402 to 23,320, approved the Government proposal to include other livestock and grains in a single contract in 1936," he said.

Burch announced a meeting of all county control committees had been called here for Oct. 18 during Farmers' Week exercises at the University of Missouri to discuss next year's program. Signers of corn-hog contracts, who represent more than 80 per cent of the State producers, Burch said, voted 32,623 to 15,845 for the 1935 proposal and 25,085 to 19,946 for the 1936 plan.

Burch said that the number of ballots cast was disappointing, being less than 50 per cent of those eligible.

SHACKLED MEN KILL OFFICER

Pair Handcuffed Together Escape From West Virginia Constable.

By the Associated Press.

PRINCETON, Va., Oct. 10.—Constable Joe Davidson, 50 years old, was shot and killed last night, apparently by two men handcuffed together, who had been left in his care.

The men sought were arrested in connection with a robbery and placed in the rear of a police car, with Davidson guarding them. The police later heard a shot, saw the men climb over a hedge and found Davidson dead in the car.

Tennessee Educator Honored.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 10.—Dr. Benjamin F. Finney, chancellor of the University of Sewanee, Tenn., was elected president of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the United States yesterday.

PAID TO FARMERS

BY GOVERNMENT

This Is Total Announced by Adjustment Bureau, up to Oct. 5, Mostly for Rental and Benefits.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Disbursements of $453,308,068 to farmers by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration up to Oct. 5 were reported today by the Farm Administration.

This represented $352,000,000 in rental and benefit payments and $101,308,068 in purchases of hog, wheat, butter, cattle and seed surpluses. A total of $799,000,000 is to be paid out to farmers, most of it before Dec. 31. In addition, cotton farmers holding options in the cotton pool received $76,000,000 of rental and benefit payments distributed to Oct. 5. Up to that date, cotton farmers received $167,403,516; wheat producers, $85,005,594; tobacco producers, $30,478,733; and corn-hog farmers, $69,921,723.

Up to Aug. 31 the Farm Administration had paid $45,489,408 for surplus hogs; $5,353,143 in shipping surplus wheat from the Pacific Northwest; $11,549,439 in taking surplus butter and cheese off the market; $37,110,164 in buying cattle in drought-stricken states; and $1,765,913 in buying seed supplies for conservation purposes.

By the end of the year the cattle and sheep purchasing program is expected to add $103,000,000 to the total paid out to farmers.

All payments, according to officials, are included in estimates which place cash income of farmers for the present calendar year at $6,000,000,000, compared with $5,000,000,000 last year and $4,500,000,000 in 1932.

Texas leads all states in the distribution of benefit payments through Aug. 31, with a total of $59,818,355, most of it on cotton acreage contracts. Kansas farmers had received $20,947,587 and Iowa farmers $15,283,866.

Rental and benefit payments by states through Aug. 31 include: Arkansas, $15,017,008; Illinois, $2,856,627; Indiana, $6,327,132; Iowa, $15,283,866; Kansas, $20,947,587; Missouri, $10,488,116; Oklahoma, $19,203,971.

Payments by counties in Missouri include:

St. Louis, $27,786; Jefferson, $32,235; Franklin, $57,470; St. Charles, $104,231.

FARIS GIVES STIFF LIQUOR SENTENCES AT CAPE GIRARDEAU

Comments Southeast Missouri "Seems to Take These Cases as Taps On the Wrist."

By the Associated Press.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Oct. 10.—A comment that Southeast Missouri "Seems to take these liquor cases as taps on the wrist" was made by Federal Judge Charles B. Faris yesterday as he gave one stiff term after another to persons dealing in illicit liquor since prohibition repeal.

Two defendants were given two-year prison terms, and the court added fines, and four others were given a year and a day. Eight others received lighter punishment, mainly because their offenses were committed before the repeal period. On Monday 33 had been sentenced, 18 for breaking the liquor revenue law.

Those given prison terms in liquor cases were: Jess Popp, Stoddard County; Casper Cole, Poplar Bluff; Sylvester Resnik, Butler County; Henry T. Sharp, Butler County; George Ward, Butler County; Roy Jamison, Butler County; E. E. Enderle, Butler County; Art C. Sauers, Butler County.

FORMER CLERK AT HOTEL IS ACQUITTED OF FORGERY

Says If He Wrote Another Name on Government Check He Was Intoxicated at Time.

E. Albert Blatchley, former clerk at the American Hotel, yesterday told a jury in Federal Judge Davis' court that if he forged the signature of Edward A. Martin to a Government compensation check for $26.40 in August of 1931, he was intoxicated when he did it. He was acquitted.

Tried on the charge of forging the signature, Blatchley admitted it looked like his writing and identified his own signature below it but insisted he had been drinking for several days at the time of the occurrence. He declared he had a hazy recollection of having signed the check for some one who asked him to help cash it.

KIDNAPING CHARGE DROPPED

Warrant Issued for Arthur E. Harms in 1931.

A warrant against Arthur E. Harms, former president of the Peter Hauptmann Tobacco Co., issued in 1931 and charging that he kidnapped his 14-year-old daughter while she was in her mother's custody by court order, will be dropped because of the death of the only eye-witness to the alleged kidnapping, Circuit Attorney Miller announced yesterday.

Mrs. Harms, who obtained a divorce in 1930, with custody of the daughter, Clara, filed the complaint against her former husband, charging he had taken the girl to Illinois against her will. Gov. Cullfield refused to extradite Harms after an older daughter, Dorothy, testified she took Clara to their father at the child's request. A boy, reported to have seen the alleged kidnapping, died a year ago.

The Circuit Attorney's office announced Monday that Stoddard County authorities at Bernie, Mo., had reported Harms was held there on the warrant. This report was later found to be erroneous.

Play Supervision Classes.

A class in recreational and play supervision for girls from the fourth to the eighth grade, in public and private schools of Webster Groves, will be held at Webster College every Saturday morning throughout the school year, beginning Oct. 20. Folk dancing, games and handwork will be taught. No fee will be charged.

NEW PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD AGAINST PAY CUTS

Dr. Cameron, Elected Unanimously, Says He Will Oppose Further Reduction in Salaries.

Promising to oppose any further reduction of school salaries, Dr. Solon Cameron and Henry P. Schroeder were elected president of the Board of Education and vice president, respectively, last night. The election, for a year's term, carried out the decision of a board caucus made last week.

"While I am president of the board," said Dr. Cameron, "a further cut in the salaries of teachers will be the last thing I'll think of." Teachers' salaries constitute the bulk of board expenditures.

Schroeder declared he would not favor reducing any salaries, if it possibly could be avoided. For more than two years all salaries have been subject to a 10 per cent reduction.

Vote Is Unanimous.

With one member, Ben Weidie, absent, and Dr. Cameron not voting, the new president was elected unanimously by the other 10 members. On the election of the vice-president Schroeder refrained from voting and the two women members, Mrs. E. R. Kroeger and Mrs. Elias Michael, announced they were voting for Schroeder. Mrs. Kroeger, who was defeated for president in the caucus, and Mrs. Michael told reporters they did not care to explain why they had not joined in the selection of Schroeder. A chorus of lilies of the valley was received by Mrs. Kroeger from the League of Women Voters during the meeting.

The retiring president, Dr. David C. Todd, in assuring his successor of the board's support, asserted the presidency was the most honorable position a citizen could have—watching over the care of 100,000 school children.

Dr. Cameron's Remarks.

"The school officials know," said Dr. Cameron, "that I have always striven to make their task lighter. It will be my endeavor at all times to assist Superintendent of Instruction Gerling in keeping the schools on their present high plane. Our teachers have carried on heroically; they have taken a decrease of pay and given up automatic increases and have assumed larger burdens in the increase of students in each classroom. I pledge my best efforts to make the coming year one of harmony and, I hope, progress for the public schools."

Many flowers were presented to the two new board officers. The first basket was carried in by Dr. Cameron's 14-year-old twin daughters, June and Jean. A gavel was given to Dr. Cameron by the Public School Mothers' Gavel Club. At times the remarks of board members were scarcely audible above the din of the celebration outside of the Cardinals' world series victory.

Contract for New School.

The board awarded a contract for $205,000 to M. I. Fleisher, low bidder, for construction of a new Herzog School, to replace portable buildings at 5830 Mimika avenue. The award was subject to anticipated approval by the PWA. This will be the first complete structure to be erected in the board's bond and PWA program.

Thirty-five tickets, at $1 each, to an entertainment on Nov. 1 by the Public School Afters' Alliance, for the benefit of its scholarship fund, were received by the board, together with a request for $35. This was presented by Myrt A. Rollins, a member of the board. Schroeder inquired if the purchase could be made legally. Before the board's attorney, Emmet T. Carter, had a chance to announce that he did not think the expenditure would be proper, a motion by Richard Murphy, calling on board members and officers to buy tickets individually, had been passed.

Symphony Concerts.

The annual agreement for a series of four concerts for school children by the Symphony Orchestra was authorized. Three of them will be conducted by Vladimir Golschmann in high school auditoriums and one at the Odeon.

Approval was given a recommendation by Dr. Gerling for extension courses for teachers and other employees of the board at the two teachers' colleges. The colleges did not admit new students to regular courses last year or this year because of an excess of teachers. Dr. Gerling said, however, it would be difficult to decrease the faculties further, so that the faculties would have time for the extension work.

Relief Fund Indorsed.

The Instruction Committee recommended that all school employees make pledges this year to the United Relief Fund. The board authorized the superintendent to co-operate in collections for the fund.

Monday, Nov. 12, was designated as a school holiday. Armistice day will come the day before.

A statement praising the service of Mrs. M. Erskine Robinson, who resigned as a teacher Aug. 29, after 60 years' service, was made by the Instruction Committee. Mrs. Robinson started teaching at the Irving School in 1874. The committee said she "was distinguished by her quick intelligence, her genial disposition and personal interest in her charges."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
BREWERY CRAFT UNION WINS AGAIN IN A. F. OF L. VOTE Convention Reaffirms Action Against Vertical Organization of Beer Workers, 15,558, to 9305.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—A skirmish in the American Federation of Labor convention over the desirability of organizing workers by industries rather than by crafts was won by the craft union supporters yesterday.
The question was raised in the fight of the brewery workers' union to have the brewery wagon drivers remain separate from the International Teamsters' Union. By vote of 15,558 to 9,305 the convention decided to sustain its action last year, which required that the members of the three brewery unions become members of their respective international unions.
Observers said the issue of vertical against horizontal unions probably would come up for a decisive vote when the convention takes up a resolution which would put the federation on record in favor of industry-wide unions.
Technically, yesterday's vote empowered the federation's executive council to continue its efforts toward settling the jurisdictional argument between the brewery workers and the teamsters.
Protests Against "Raids."
Debate on the controversy was started by Joseph Oberfell, secretary-treasurer of the brewery workers, who demanded that "raids" on the membership of his union by the teamsters' union be stopped. Oberfell said his union if left to itself would be able to obtain the 30-hour week. He said seven unions thus far had been obliged to turn over their membership to the teamsters.
"We want a union in our industry," he said.
Booned from some corners of the room as he arose to reply, Daniel J. Tobin, president of the teamsters, said his organization was made up of "staunch unionists" and contained "none of the rubbish that has come into other organizations during the last year."
"You take that back!" shouted Emanuel Koveleski of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers.
"I won't take it back!" Tobin retorted. "I'm not in the habit of taking things back."
Tobin argued that the bargaining power of craft unions was greater than that of "vertical" or industry-wide unions.
The Federation adopted several resolutions designed to help public schools and one assailing the labor policies of the Kohler Company, Wisconsin manufacturing firm, whose employees struck recently.
Urges Fight on Fascism.
An appeal for the assistance of American Labor in creating "a mass of hostile opinion" against such dictators as those of Italy and Germany was made before the convention by Walter M. Citrine, secretary of the British Trades Union Congress.
Citrine said at least 2,000 persons had been killed in a "reign of terror" accompanying the rise of Fascism in Italy and that similar things had occurred in Germany.
"But for the financial help of reactionary employers," he said, "Fascism would not have been possible in either country."

$2788 SUBSCRIBED FOR INSTITUTE FOR THE DEAF
Another Meeting to Be Held Friday in Campaign to Raise $25,000.
A total of $2788 has been subscribed to date in the campaign for the Central Institute for the Deaf. It was announced yesterday at the first meeting of the 150 campaign workers in the auditorium of the institute at 818 South Kingshighway. The second meeting will be held at 4 p. m. Friday.
The goal of the campaign is $25,000, which is needed to finance free scholarships and lip reading and speech correction clinics maintained by the institute. Officers of the institute have pointed out that 70 per cent of the present enrollment is on a full or part tuition-free basis and the number of applicants at the clinics is increasing.
At the meeting yesterday, there was a demonstration of method used in training deaf children and children with speech defects. Dr. Borden S. Veeder, consultant at the institute, and Mrs. Max A. Goldstein, wife of the director, spoke on the work at the school.

70 Pct. Previously Distributed—12,000 to Share in $882,143.
A second payment of 18 per cent is now ready for depositors and creditors of the South Side National Bank of St. Louis, 3606 Gravois avenue, the bank announced today. A distribution of 70 per cent was paid when the bank reorganized in May of this year.
J. Buckner Fisher, receiver, said that "part or all" of the remaining 12 per cent would be repaid as liquidation of the old bank proceeds. The present payment, totaling $882,143, will be distributed among 12,000 depositors and creditors.
Creditors must bring their Receiver's Certificate of Proof of Claim with them in order to receive the checks, which may be cashed or deposited at the bank.

Contract Purchase Is to Provide Footwear for Inmates of Institutions.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 10.—Enough footwear to outfit everyone in a city the size of Columbia was bought this week by George Johnson, State purchasing agent, for inmates of many State institutions. The order did not include shoes for inmates of the State penitentiary where convicts make their own.
All of the shoes contracted for, at what Johnson's office says was a substantial saving to the State, are being manufactured in Missouri.
"These shoes are all of first quality make," Earl McClintock, assistant to the State purchasing agent, said.

Holds My FALSE TEETH Tighter and Longer
I've tried several kinds of powders to hold my false teeth. When I tried FASTEETH I found the one powder that does not thin out or wash away, but "stays put" all day. It gives a most pleasant feeling, a real sense of security, and holds and holds. Breath is always pleasant. If anyone with loose-fitting false teeth wants all-day comfort and a real stay there fit, insist upon FASTEETH at Walgreen, or any good drug store.

SAFE with the children at home... Alert, tireless and eager hour after hour in the hunting field, an Irish Setter, like the one you see above, is a pretty dependable companion. Nobody would be surprised if a family became attached to him.
What has surprised many owners of new Ford V-8's is that they have formed the same sort of attachment for their Ford V-8's.
And there's plenty of reason for this: Because the mechanical excellence of the Ford V-8 has so closely approached perfection that you are hardly aware of it as a machine at all. It seems alive! Like a thoroughbred in the hunting field, a Ford V-8 on the highway is alert and eager, hour after hour. Safety glass and a welded all-steel body make it a safe car, for you and your family. Beauty of line and finish make it a good looking car. The longer you drive it the more you come to consider your Ford V-8 as a dependable companion... You get attached to it because you are proud of it. And you are grateful to it because it never lets you down.

ANY Ford dealer can supply you with the list of mechanical features which make the Ford V-8 the car it is. Any impartial and competent engineer will confirm their importance and the fact that many of them are found only in high-priced cars. But your nearest Ford dealer can do more than that. He will gladly let you drive a Ford V-8 and so find out for yourself how the car as a whole performs in your hands. The trial drive is the surest means by which to judge how well the Ford V-8 will serve and satisfy you and your family.

ALUMINUM CODE EXTENDED THREE MONTHS FOR INQUIRY

NRA Meanwhile Will Try to Ascertain Whether It Establishes Monopoly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. — NRA has extended the aluminum code for three months and thereby extended its own time for deciding whether the code fosters a monopoly. The recovery administration asserted investigation of past practices of the industry would be continued. The code originally was approved on June 26 when an administrative order said it would be operative only for 90 days pending inquiry. The new order said the inability of the recovery administration to recognize the code authority for the industry had made it impossible to make an adequate study of the situation.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS TO MEET

Jefferson Club to Hold First Rally at Clayton. The St. Louis County Jefferson Club will hold its first election campaign meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Clayton High School auditorium, 7500 Maryland avenue. Speakers will be Congressman John J. Cochran, John P. Egan, and former Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel. Candidates on the Democratic ticket will be introduced to the audience. There will be a parade before the meeting.

TWO FORCE WAY INTO TAXI; TAKE $60,000 OF GEMS

Police Suspect Robbers Had Trained New York Diamond Broker for Several Days.

Joseph Goldmuntz, New York diamond broker, was robbed last night of jewelry and unset diamonds which he valued at more than $60,000 by two men who, police believe, had been trailing him for several days.

The men held up Goldmuntz and a taxicab driver at Eighteenth and Market streets as the diamond broker was en route to Indianapolis. One guarded Goldmuntz while the other forced the taxicab chauffeur to drive to Arco and Boyle avenues, where they entered an automobile that had been following the taxicab, and fled with the loot, which was insured.

Goldmuntz, president of Goldmuntz Brothers, Inc., 10 West Forty-seventh street, New York City, and John Wedler, 3460A Giles avenue, Yellow taxicab driver, told police that Goldmuntz checked out of the Statler Hotel shortly after 5 p. m. Wedler reported he drove the broker, who had two handbags and a brief case, west to Twelfth boulevard, south to Chestnut street, west to Fifteenth street, south to Market street and west to Eighteenth where a red traffic light forced him to halt in heavy traffic.

Called Him by First Name. Neither Goldmuntz nor Wedler saw the two men approach, they told police, but suddenly both doors on the right side of the cab were opened and two men with revolvers climbed in. One seated himself beside the diamond broker. The other crouched beside the driver. The back seat intruder, whom Goldmuntz says he never saw before, said: "Hello, Joe, don't make a move or I'll kill you." The one beside Wedler admonished him: "Now, Bozo, don't get excited. Wait for the signal and then drive ahead. Don't run through any lights, but take the road to Kansas City." He hesitated a moment and then added: "Or I'll shoot you through the head."

Wedler obeyed. He drove west to Vandeventer avenue, south to Manchester avenue and west to Arco avenue. There the man beside him said: "Turn here," and a moment later, "That'll do. You can stop here."

Goldmuntz and Wedler became aware that an automobile had followed them and had stopped behind the cab. Lights on the car, which they described as a dark sedan, were extinguished as Goldmuntz' companion said, "Now Joe, I'll take this little handbag," and Wedler's riding partner added, "And don't you fellows look at us or try to identify us."

"They climbed into the sedan, which raced away without lights, turned a corner and disappeared. Exhibited the Gems Here. Goldmuntz values the unset stones he carried in two wallets in the brief case at $42,500. In addition there were two bracelets, four rings, a diamond pin and a brooch. He said he had been in St. Louis exhibiting the wares for two days. Police expressed the opinion the robbers had been following him for several days, awaiting an opportunity to rob him. Goldmuntz, who said he had to be in Indianapolis on business today, left on a later train last night.

GIRL DIES OF SKULL INJURY; POLICE SEEKING CAUSE

Told Hospital Attendants She Did Not Know How She Was Hurt.

Police are investigating the death yesterday at City Hospital of Doris Allen, 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Theresa Allen, 3521 Henrietta street. She died of a skull injury after telling hospital attendants she could not remember how she was hurt.

Doris was brought to the hospital Saturday night. She had gone to the home of her father, from whom her mother is separated, at 3525 Henrietta street. She told him she was feeling ill and he took her to the hospital.

Police questioned the mother, but she said she did not know how her daughter was injured. She said Doris had been playing Saturday afternoon at the Wyman Playground, but that she had not complained of anything when she came home.

26 SADDLE HORSES SOLD FIRST DAY OF AUCTION

Mrs. Fred S. Anheuser Buys Five-Gaited Chestnut Mare for $380.

A total of 26 saddle horses were sold at an average of $109 per head at the opening of the four-day saddle horse auction held in connection with the St. Louis National Horse Show at the Missouri Stables, 5200 Barthold avenue, yesterday.

The highest prices paid yesterday was $390 for Mark Woods, a 15-year-old chestnut stallion consigned by the T. K. Simmons Farms of Bixby, Okla. Roy Davis, stable proprietor, was the purchaser.

Mrs. Fred S. Anheuser paid $380 for Dream Cloud, five-gaited chestnut mare. Rex Silver, five-gaited gray gelding, brought $350, paid by Davis.

Prices of the other horses sold ranged from $15 to $150. Better horses will be auctioned today, tomorrow and Friday.

LEHMAN TO GRANT JERSEY REQUEST FOR HAUPTMANN

New York Governor to Sign Extradition Order Today, Counsel for Prisoner Is Informed.

By the Associated Press. ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 10. — James M. Fawcett, counsel to Bruno Hauptmann, announced today that Gov. Lehman would sign an order extraditing Hauptmann to New Jersey this afternoon, but that Hauptmann would "fight extradition to the end." Fawcett made his announcement at a conference with the Governor and his counsel, Charles Poletti.

Fawcett said he would apply tomorrow morning to Bronx County or Bronx Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus which, if granted, would in effect, stay the Governor's extradition order temporarily. He said he did not ask the Governor for a hearing for his client, who was indicted in New Jersey this week for the murder of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby.

Hearing Not Requested. "Gov. Lehman told me," he said, "that he was ready to grant the request of New Jersey that Hauptmann be sent there from New York City to face trial for the abduction murder."

"I did not ask a hearing because I preferred to carry the case direct to the courts," Fawcett said. Hauptmann's trial for extortion of the kidnapping ransom, scheduled for tomorrow in the Bronx, will be sidetracked to clear the way for the removal of the former German convict to Elmington, N. J., where he was indicted Monday for the killing of the baby.

New Witness Reported.

Gov. Moore of New Jersey announced last night the discovery of a new witness, who placed Hauptmann near the Hopwell home of the Lindberghs on the night in 1932 when the baby was stolen from his crib. The witness' name was withheld during a check of his statement. "If his story can be believed, it will sew up the case against Hauptmann," Gov. Moore said. Although there is little chance of a murder trial before the November election, New Jersey has exercised speed in its moves to get Hauptmann into its custody. Gov. Moore signed the necessary papers after the indictment was handed up, and Attorney-General David T. Wilentz turned them over to Gov. Lehman less than two and one-half hours later. Plans to Put Off Extortion Trial. District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of Bronx County announced he would ask for a postponement of the extortion trial so that New Jersey might try the war-time machine gunner first. The defense lawyer had said earlier he would seek a delay in the case. Coming to the aid of Hunterdon County, which has a population of only 35,000, the State of New Jersey decided to finance Hauptmann's trial there. The State House Commission allotted $15,000 for trial costs.

ALLEGED BOND THIEVES CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Securities Removed from Cage in Broker's Office With Stick.

Ralph Nolan, cashier for A. G.
Edwards & Sons, 409 North Eighth street, stock and bond brokers, saw a man's hand, holding a short stick, protruding through the front grill of a nearby cage yesterday.
As Nolan hurried around to the front to investigate, a man ran to the street door from the cage and, joined by a second man, fled north on Eighth street. Nolan raised an alarm and pursued the men. Traffic Patrolmen James Connor and William J. Connor and Detective Sergeant Walter Cade, observing the chase, joined it and stopped the men at St. Charles street, a block north, and placed the fugitives under arrest.

The policemen recovered a bamboo stick, three feet long and with an adhesive substance at each end, from a taxicab into which one of the men had thrown it. Nolan also had observed the man with the stick throwing a package behind a radiator as he ran to the door. The package, recovered, turned out to be bonds, apparently taken from the cage.

The men arrested, identified by Nolan and also by Charles Bancroft, a salesman for the company, were taken to Police Headquarters, where one gave his name as William Evans. They denied knowing each other.

Police records disclosed Evans, also known as Warner, had served prison terms in New York and Boston for larceny. Circulars on file showed men answering descriptions of the two were wanted in several Eastern cities for bond thefts. Police said the men would be held pending investigation.

Dr. John McDowell Injured.

CARDINALS' WORLD SERIES VICTORY A TRIUMPH OF DEANS

Landis Says Medwick Took Blame for Row at Third

Cardinal Would Not Accuse Owen of Giving Him Jolt With Knee

By W. J. McGoogan.

Medwick, Cardinal left fielder, suffered the very unusual experience of being ordered out of a world series game in the final at St. Louis yesterday, but it was no ordinary umpire who expelled Medwick. The high commissioner of baseball himself—Kenesaw Landis.

The scene which preceded Medwick's ejection was unprecedented in world series history and reflected the pent-up feelings of Detroit fans, disappointed and angry over the failure of the Tigers to win their first world championship when prospect appeared so bright, were released.

As the trouble really was an outburst long before that Medwick had scored seven runs more than enough to win. In the sixth inning, with Marvyn Owen at second base, Medwick poled a line drive to right center field, which scored Martin, and on the next play, Medwick, by hard running, scored again.

Medwick ran into the base in the ordinary way and the ball didn't arrive until after he did. Marvin Owen, the Tiger third baseman, although the ball never came to him, appeared to lean forward toward Medwick as though he were trying to give him the knee. Medwick immediately retaliated by kicking at Owen with his right foot. The two players jumped to their feet with intent intention of fighting.

Umpire Bill Klem of the National League, stationed at third base, and the Cardinals' Migue Gonzalez intervened to stop the disturbance. Players from the Cardinals and from the Tiger team rushed around the two belligerents while all four umpires tried to restore peace. Gonzalez told them and said: "Neither of you hurt; stop the rumpus as soon as you can. If you don't, you might be fined $1000."

Owen Declines Handshake. Medwick made a gesture to shake hands with Owen, but the third baseman jerked his head away and refused to conciliate. Then single and Medwick walked and as he went to the bench, his teammates gave him a welcome, thumping him on the back to show approval of what he had done.

When Joe took his position in the field at the start of the seventh inning, the bleachers in their wrath and show of protest, threw apples, oranges, lemons and buns. Finally a policeman stepped out and soon many more followed.

Medwick was suspended while park police went about with batons, gathering up the debris. Then an attempt was made to resume the game and the outbreak was repeated.

Umpire Harry Geisel, when the disturbance appeared to show no signs of dying down, turned to Cochran and told him that unless the Cardinals permitted the game to go on, he would forfeit the contest to the Yankees by the usual forfeit score of 5-0, which happened to be the score at that time.

Only 15 minutes were consumed in the early innings of one of his games. But the batter's punch was not delivered.

But Frisch, with everything at stake, hit a double—and the world series was as good as over. The one blow drove in three men, the first runs of the game, and the elevators went down inside of every Tiger on the field. They surrendered right there. It was the blow that really ended the world series. And it makes up for any previous criticism of Frisch.

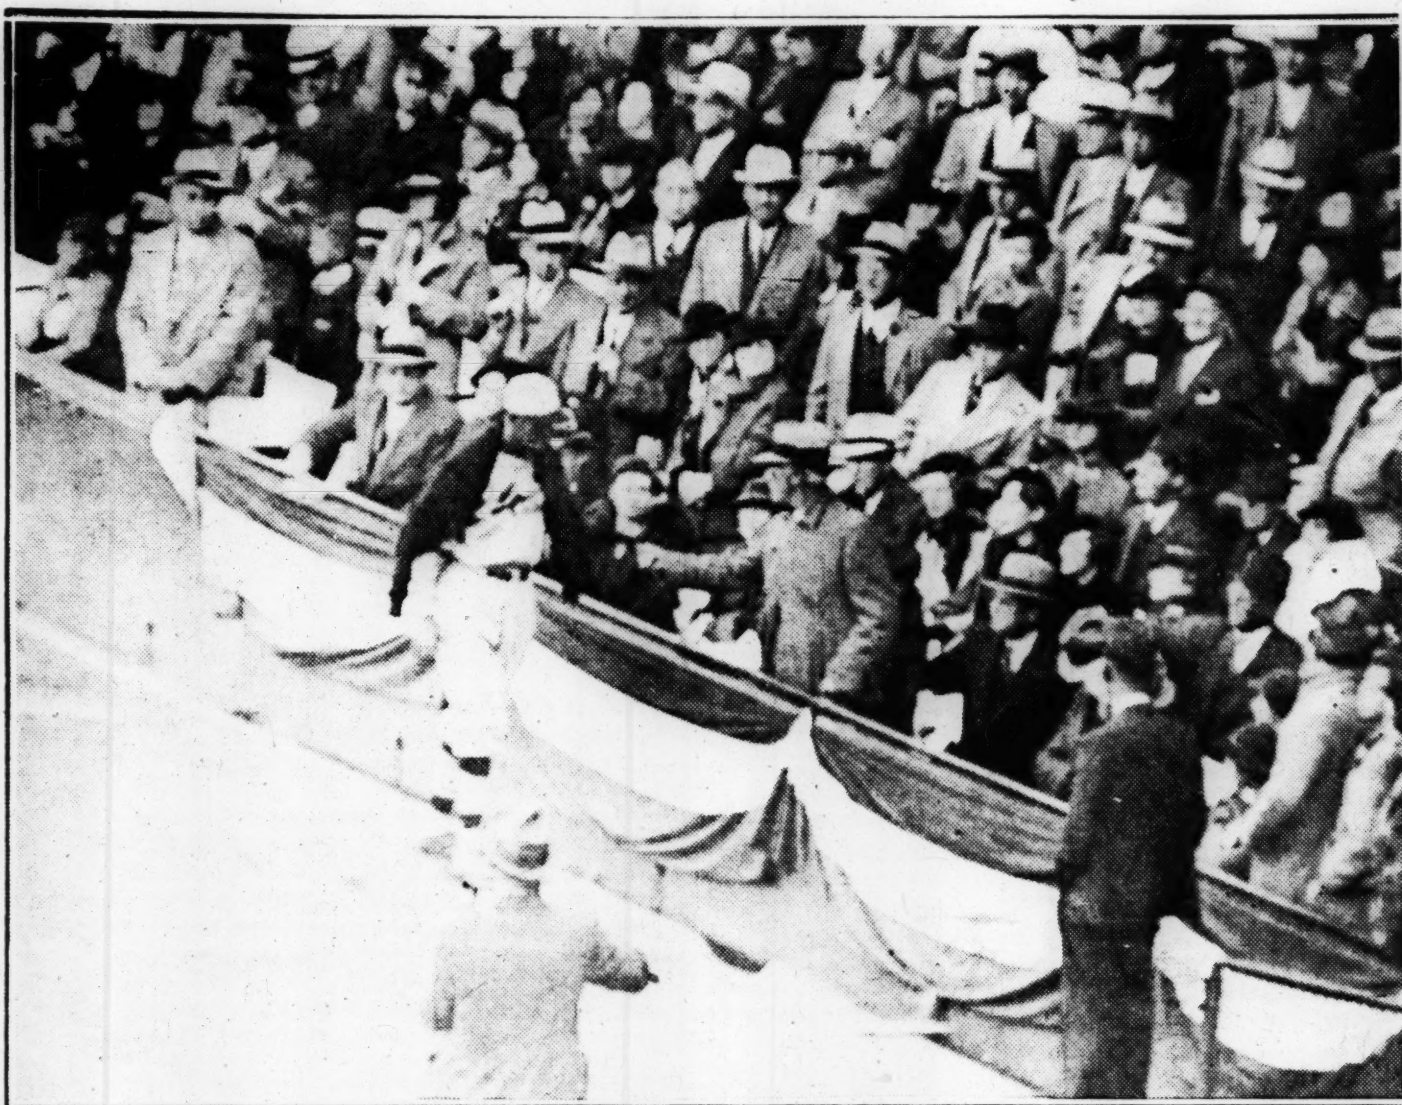

Of course, there were eight runs more made by the Cardinals and none by the enemy—and that confirms Frisch's part in the victory. Detroit quit after his blow. With Dizzy Dean pitching and their own stars cracking, they felt they had no chance.

Let's give Caesar Frisch his due.

World Series Economics. A thing more than just the deciding of an imaginary supremacy between a couple of groups of young men. As an economic factor, entirely outside of the part that concerns the club owners.

Several times this situation had developed during the series. When Paul Dean had faced it

DE LANCEY AND KLEM FINED $50 BY JUDGE LANDIS

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Oct. 10. Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's high commissioner, today imposed fines of $50 each on William J. Klem, senior umpire of the National League, and William De Lancy, St. Louis Cardinal catcher, for the use of "over-ripe words" during the world series.

A decision in the case of Joe Medwick, Cardinal outfielder who was the central figure in the riot of Tuesday's final game, will be reserved for a few days, Judge Landis said.

Judge Landis described Klem's argument with Leon (Goose) Goslin, Tiger outfielder, which took place Monday in a crowded hotel lobby, as "unbecoming a major-league umpire."

"Both Klem and De Lancy used over-ripe words, for which they should be fined," Landis said of the two incidents.

"Imagine how it looked when one of the women in that crowd in the lobby turned and asked someone who the man using profane language was and heard that someone say, 'why, that's Umpire Bill Klem of the National League.' I'm not going to stand for that sort of thing."

He said it was the first time in his 14 years as baseball commissioner that he had found it necessary to fine an umpire.

Umpire Clarence Owens fined De Lancy $200 for abusive language in St. Louis. Landis said the fine was illegal.

JACK DEMPSEY TO TAKE ANOTHER FLING AS RACE HORSE OWNER

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Jack Dempsey has formed a horse racing partnership with Willard Mack, Hollywood playwright, and their stable will make its debut at the Bay Meadows meeting, opening at San Mateo, Nov. 3. Mack informed California Jockey Club officials yesterday.

Dempsey purchased six horses in the East, four of them former good race mares, which will be bred to stallions owned by Mack. The other two, one of which is Pomponius, are in racing condition and will arrive at Bay Meadows before the opening.

It will be the former heavyweight champion's second venture in the racing game. He owned a small stable several years ago,

"I Guess the Deans Can Hold Their Heads Up Through The Winter Now," Dizzy Says

By Dizzy Dean, Leading Pitcher of 1934.

This article about the world series is going to be the toughest of all for me to write. Me and Paul don't mind telling the world what we can do and what we expect to do, but it just sort of aces against the Dean rain to go bragging about what we have done. But I guess there's no two ways about it. Me and Paul have each won two games in this world series and much as it pains me, I guess all I can say is that maybe it hurts Mickey Cochrane and his pussycats more.

I was very pleased to show that I could pitch almost as good as that kid brother of mine. I finally got right in the final game and while I would have liked to make it a no-hitter and was kinda disappointed when Gehrig gets that first hit, I guess the Deans can hold their heads up as they go through the winter.

I hated to make such a show of Greenberg, because as I says before, he's a nice kid and can hit a ball a long ways. But he's invited like all the rest to attend our baseball school the coming winter and I can help him with his hitting and a lot of things. He's too soft as a hitter. He's got to learn to do better in the pinches.

"How to Run the Bases." There was some fellows who kicked about Frisch's using me as a pinch runner that day in St. Louis when I got myself skulled first hit, I guess the Deans can hold their heads up as they go through the winter.

DIZZY'S PITCHING AND BATTING POTENT FACTORS IN WINNING FINAL GAME

By J. Roy Stockton

Frankie Frisch's Cardinals are champions of the baseball world and a new dynasty is in the throne room in the great American game. The Yankees had Ruth and Gehrig and the Athletics had Fox, Simmons and Grove and now the Cardinals have Dean and Dean.

And because Jerome Herman and his brother, Paul, will be in St. Louis uniforms, the Cardinals will be favorites when the next National League pennant race gets under way and whenever the Redbirds meet any American League team in a title competition, the experts will look at Paul and Dizzy and make the St. Louis team the favorite.

There were factors other than the Dean boys in the Cardinals' great drive to the National League pennant. There had to be base hits and fast running and great catches in the outfield and a stalwart infield defense. But to the nation's baseball followers, it was a drive of the Deans. And to the same fans, the world series triumph was a triumph for the two slender boys from the cotton fields of the South, who in a few brief years have become national figures.

Deans' Fortunes Made. And this world championship is a golden wand of magic for the Dean boys. Their fortune is made. A few short months ago they were striking, because Paul was getting only $3000 a year and Dizzy thought that was not fair. Today they are besieged with offers. Theatrical producers want them to accept thousands a week, just to appear and grin and say a few words in their Southern country-boy drawl.

Moving picture companies want them to perform, pitching, talking, doing anything at all, just so they will appear in the klieg lights and let the cameras grind out reels of film so the good people of Yakima, Wash., and Tallahassee, Fla., can sit down in a theater and see their faces and hear their voices, as they tell about the world series of 1934.

Liniment manufacturers are urging them to accept sums of money for endorsing their products. Manufacturers of caps, shoes, overcoats, tooth paste and what not are approaching in small armies, with checks which they are eager to turn over to the Deans, the ragged, barefooted boys of the recent past.

And besides all that, their baseball salaries for 1935 are sure to call for substantial increases. The $3000 that was paid Paul for his first year in the big league, will be three times that or more, for his second campaign. And Dizzy, who drew a total of $8500 for throwing baseballs during 1934, will have pay checks worth more than twice as much to bank during the 1935 pennant race.

Paul and Dizzy will be offered large sums to appear before the microphone and tell the good people of America that their health will be better if they eat this or that kind of a corn flake, or if they use this or that kind of oil in their automobile.

Dizzy and Paul Now the Fair-Haired Darlings of All the Baseball World

Dizzy and Paul are the darlings of the baseball world. They are the new Gehrig and Ruth, the new Simmons and Fox. And if nothing happens to their magic right arms, the future is bright for the St. Louis National League baseball club and if anybody wants to buy the Cardinals from Sam Eardon, they will have to pay much more than would have been necessary a short month ago when the Redbirds were an apparently hopeless second place team and a money-losing business.

It was a Dean victory that the Cardinals gained in winning the world championship, the third for St. Louis in nine years. Dizzy won the first game and clinched the championship by blanking the Tigers yesterday, 11 to 0, with the best pitching performance of the series. Paul won the second game and after the Tigers had come from behind and taken a one-game lead, Paul defeated them at Navin Field Monday when the Cardinals had their backs to the wall and one more Detroit victory would have given the championship back to the American League.

The score of the series was the Deans 4, Detroit 3. And while it was a team victory for the Cardinals, the country is not hailing a team. It is paying homage to two strong-armed young men who did the pitching.

Dizzy soared to the pinnacle of pitching heights as he whitewashed the enemy yesterday in the seventh and deciding game.

He had everything that goes to make up a great pitcher. His control was perfect. He put every pitch just where he wanted it. He did not walk a man. His curve was a sweeping thing when he wanted it to be. That was his slow curve. His fast curve was a fire-cracker. That was what he used when he was ready for the kill.

He prepared his victims with a half-speed ball or a burning fast one. Then when he had them at a disadvantage, he gave them the fire-cracker. Perhaps it seemed destined to be inside, but as it reached the batter, it exploded. The batters could not see it. They swung blindly and collected six hits.

But there was no definition to the Detroit batting. It was a case of the blind hog picking up an occasional acorn. The Tigers could harvest no satisfying crop of base hits.

Dizzy Starts the Rally. It was a delightful afternoon for Jerome Herman. He enjoyed himself immensely. He started a seven-run rally with a double to left, and displayed his base-running ability by making the double out of what

SEVEN NEW ALL-TIME MARKS ARE SET IN WORLD SERIES

NINE OTHERS TIED; FRISCH IMPROVES ON FIVE RECORDS

DETROIT, Oct. 10.—Seven new world series baseball records were set and nine others tied, as the Cardinals of St. Louis defeated the Tigers of Detroit in the seventh game of the series.

Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals, who had been batting .300 in the series, improved his record to .357 by hitting a double in the seventh inning. He also tied his own record of 10 hits in a game, set in the first game of the series.

Police Escorting Cardinals From Field in Final Game

Sixty mounted and foot police escort the bus carrying the Cardinals from the field because of rioting following the victory. Joe Medwick and Marvin Owen, but the fans had apparently forgotten the affair because there was no later disturbance.

Medwick Declines to Put Blame for Row on Owen measure the players were sent out of a side entrance of the hotel and whisked to the station in taxicabs.

Not many were gathered at the station around the Cardinal special, and they made no move to molest the players. The train pulled out of the station without any untoward happening.

Owen, reached for a statement after the game, refused to say that he had done anything or that Medwick had done anything. "It is all over so far as I am concerned," he said. "I'm sorry it happened and I'm sorry Medwick was ordered out of the game."

On the train coming home Medwick declared that Owen had tried to walk off him and that he kicked back.

Gonzales declared that he saw Owen try to walk on Medwick, but that he didn't hurt Joe and Medwick didn't hurt Owen.

Frank Frisch asserted that it was one of those unfortunate things which come up in baseball occasionally, that he was sure that Medwick would not intentionally spike anybody, but that Commissioner Landis probably did the right thing when he ordered Medwick out of the game, more as precaution than a punishment.

Varied Views of the Play. Views in the press box of unbiased observers varied almost as much as everyone else. The writers' seat was in a position from which he could not see with accuracy everything which took place.

He did think that Owen made a motion as though he were trying to knee Medwick. Two other Post-Dispatch reporters sitting to the right of the writer said they saw the thing and one of them declared that it appeared to him that Owen tried to walk on Medwick.

Still another member of the Post-Dispatch staff, who happened to have a seat opposite third base, declared that he was sure that Owen tried to put his knee in Medwick's groin, but two other newspaper men from the same location asserted that Owen appeared to them to have done nothing.

And so it went around the circle of the press box, some thought that Owen had aggravated Medwick, some said they thought the Tiger third baseman had made no belligerent move.

Other players on the Cardinal club asserted that Owen had been trying to give the knee to every base runner who came into third base all through the series.

"Marvin's a nice fellow but he should cut out that stunt of trying to knee base runners," Jack Rothrock, Cardinal right fielder, declared. "The tried it on me twice. And you know our club is a hard fighting outfit. You can't get anything by slapping opposition players on the back."

game could not continue under the circumstances, I called Medwick, Owen, Frisch, Cochrane and Klem to my box.

"I asked just one question and that was directed to Medwick. It was, 'Did Owen do anything to you as you slid into third base to anger you, or did he try to do anything to you?'"

"Medwick replied, 'No.' Then I asked, 'Why did you do it?' and Medwick said, 'It was just one of those things which is likely to happen when you are sliding into a base.' With that I ordered Frisch to remove Medwick from the game."

"I wanted him to have police protection, as it occurred to me that something might have happened outside of the park, so when Medwick went to the Cardinal dugout I asked that he go to the dressing room and leave with a police escort while the crowd was still at the park."

"But police officials came to me and told me that they would have a better police set-up later, when the whole Cardinal team was ready to depart, and that's the way it was arranged."

Climax of Rough Series. The clash between Medwick and Owen seemed to be a climax to the one of the roughest and toughest world series baseball has ever known.

Actions of players of both teams towards each other and toward the umpires caused reporters, the night before the last game was played, to discuss the possibility of what might happen the following day in a close contest.

It seemed that both teams were out for blood from the start. There was no particular incident upon which you could put your finger as the starting point but it did seem that Center Fielder Joe White of the Tigers, started the ball rolling by kicking the ball out of Cardinal infielders' hands every time he had a chance.

Cardinal players began to retaliate until finally members of both teams were riding into bases with spikes waist high with no quarter asked and none given. Much was made over the spiking of Mickey Cochrane by Paul Dean Monday.

But Mickey slid into Paul's spike himself and Paul, taking a throw from Collins at first base had his back turned to Cochrane as the Tiger manager slid into the bag and nicked his knee on a rear spike and Paul's shoe.

But the little out in his knee was magnified when Mickey was taken to a hospital Monday night for treatment and kept there all night.

Prior to that Orsatti, a bundle of bandages, had dumped Cochrane on a play at the plate and Mickey had made his remark that it seemed there was a lot of cutting and slashing going on. But the fact was that it was a series between two hard-riding ball clubs and both were after the big share of the spoils.

Landis remarked that perhaps the encouragement given to rough play at the start of the season by those high in baseball councils might have born fruit in the world series.

ROTHROCK SUE BY BOSTON SHOW GIRL

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—While a diamond battle in Detroit yesterday brought joy to Jack Rothrock, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, a diamond battle of another type came to life here.

Miss Jackie Coogan of Boston, a show girl, filed suit in Suffolk Civil Court to secure the return of a diamond ring valued by her at $500 which she alleged she entrusted to Rothrock in New York, two years ago, during a party given in her honor.

According to Miss Coogan, a writ was served on Rothrock a month ago, while the Cardinals were playing in Boston, and he promised to return the ring within 30 hours. Instead, she charged, Rothrock brought a counter action, claiming the ring did not belong to her.

to a hospital Monday night for treatment and kept there all night. Prior to that Orsatti, a bundle of bandages, had dumped Cochrane on a play at the plate and Mickey had made his remark that it seemed there was a lot of cutting and slashing going on. But the fact was that it was a series between two hard-riding ball clubs and both were after the big share of the spoils.

Landis remarked that perhaps the encouragement given to rough play at the start of the season by those high in baseball councils might have born fruit in the world series.

It will be remembered that at the start of the season players were encouraged to play more "aggressive" baseball than previously.

WAGNER TO PLAY IN BACKFIELD OF BEARS IN GAME THIS WEEK-END

Coach Jimmy Conzelmann of the Washington University Bears intends making a few changes in his starting lineup when he leads them against Washab College next Saturday night. The changes are to be made not because the starters against Illinois didn't click—they did that—but because the Bears' coach wants to work in several men into the starting combination, especially in the backfield.

Chick Droke, one of Conzelmann's most dependable backs, has a broken finger. If it were necessary, he could play against Washab. But, it isn't and he won't. So, Ed Wagner will start in Droke's position against Washab beginning the game in place of Captain Harry Brown. "Zibby" and Wimberly will be the other starting backs.

There also will be changes in the line with Konvicka opening in Wendt's place and Hobbs at right end. There will be little or no scrimmage for the Bears this week. In fact, Coach Conzelmann doesn't much believe in much scrimmage and it is true that the Washington varsity has had prolonged scrimmage work just twice since the practice season started. So, the work will consist of perfecting plays. There is no worry over any possible passing-attack from Washab and any team that can stop Illinois' offense head, shouldn't have much trouble in that defensive department. And, while Illinois completed nine passes out of 15, the Illini didn't once get away with a long one, the nine completed heaves netting 100 yards.

Right now, Washington's objective is the Drake game, but, before that, the Bears have to play Simpson and Drake played a tie. The Bears haven't defeated Drake since "the mind of man," etc, but they intend to this year and break the Des Moines jinx.

The Washab game will be played Saturday night and the Simpson and Drake games on succeeding Friday nights. This can be done because St. Louis University will be engaged in Saturday contests away from home.

Today, the Bears will keep on working. Among the alumni, the Illinois game is still being fought and Conzelmann has found another reason why the score should have been 20 to 12 in favor of the Bears. Probably, followers of the Bears won't concede defeat in that battle for years to come.

TIGERS DIDN'T HAVE THE CLASS TO BEAT CARDS' DUROCHER SAYS

By LEO DUROCHER, Field Captain, St. Louis Cardinals.

DETROIT, Oct. 10.—It took a little longer than I figured it would but the St. Louis Cardinals are the best club in baseball today, the champions of the world, and much the better club in this world series than the Tigers admitted it after the game.

I knew we had one good game in our systems and, in pulling it yesterday, we just beat their brains. As a matter of fact, we all ought to be arrested for having let the thing go as far as it did. I'll even say this: that we deserved to lose the series, kidding around the way we did—with a nickel ball club like the Tigers.

Class and ability, of course, will overcome almost anything, and yesterday the "percentage" caught up with the Tigers. They just didn't have it, that's all.

Dizzy was great out there. Just imagine that fellow. They've talked about how amazing Cobb was in the old days. They've talked of Ruth and all the things he did, his record hits and so forth. But did you ever hear of a pitcher who worked six times in the last 10 days of the regular season; pitched and won Wednesday's opener, got hit on the head with a throw on Saturday, pitched Sunday and then came back today to work a shutout? Nobody ever heard of such a pitcher.

Better Than Matty, Grove. You can have your Mattys, your Mordecai Browns, your Lefty Groves and those other birds. None of them had his stuff; none of them had his rubber arm, the most remarkable length of flesh and rawhide sinew that ever hung from the shoulder of a human being.

Dean was hot. He even fooled us. We figured we might have to get him a lot of runs. Instead of that he could have beaten anybody. At the end of a tough season and right on the finish of a seven-game world series, the boy was better today than any time I have seen him in weeks.

Not only did he have his stuff, but he also pitched a wonderfully smart game, being always ahead of the hitter. Any time, by the way, that Diz gets ahead of the hitter, look for a low score. It gives him a chance to play around with all that hocus-pocus stuff of his.

I'm not going to go into the Medwick-Owen trouble, except to say that Joe has been telling me all week that Owen has been giving him the knee every time he comes into the bases.

It looked as though Joe was making his slide on a play that was never close and that Owen climbed on him as he came into the bag. If Joe wants to resent this, it's his business. But if he gets in a jam, it's ours. We're all together on this ball club. They've talked of cliques and so on this year but, when you get right down to it, we're all in there making a living together and the only way to do that is to stay together.

Frisch Now Holds 7 Series Records and Shares 3 More

Frankie Francis Frisch, the Fordham Flash, manager and second baseman of the Cardinals returned to St. Louis today, all weighted down with 10 world series records which he holds by himself or shares with others. Five batting marks and two fielding records are owned solely by Frisch.

In his first of eight appearances in the fall classic, back in 1921 with the Giants, Frisch established two fielding marks at third base that still stand today. He totaled 13 put outs and 24 assists in eight games. That performance started Frisch on the way to several of his records, for he played in seven more series, two under Babe Ruth for competitive honors.

The Babe has been on American League championship teams 10 times, while Frisch leads the National League with eight. The batting marks which Frisch has set up are the most times at bat, 196; the most hits, 58; the most singles, 45; the most doubles, 10 and the greatest number of games played, 50. Ruth has taken part in 41 games to be runner-up to Frisch.

Those records which Frisch shares with others are most times at bat in one inning, two (tied by many); most runs in one inning, two, tied with Jimmy Foxx and Al Simmons; and three players driven in by a long hit (tied with 10 others). The last mark was made in the seventh game of the 1934 world series, when Frisch clouted a double with the bases loaded.

Over a span of 14 years, Frisch has batted .296 and fielded .969, in his 50 world series games. He was born in New York City, Sept. 9, 1898, so it was just a month ago that he celebrated his thirty-sixth birthday.

Frisch's complete world series figures are given in the table below:

BILLIKENS WILL USE NEW LINEUP IN BATTLE WITH CREIGHTON TEAM

By James M. Gould. If a changed though chastened spirit means anything, Creighton University is in for a strenuous argument next Friday night at Walsh Stadium when the Bluejays from Omaha meet the St. Louis U. Billikens at Walsh Stadium. For the Billikens, right now, are a bit expected that they would eat Illinois Wesleyan alive. When they didn't, they were submerged under a tidal wave of criticism. Everybody took a shot at them and they didn't care much for it.

After carefully considering several ways by which they could get revenge for the unmerciful "panning," they hit on the rather unique one of getting together and playing football so they, in turn, could show the carpers up. Now, practice at St. Louis U. is a different matter. The boys are out early and stay late and when they practice blocking—and how they needed that practice—they really practice blocking.

Coach Muellerleile has shifted several men and by so doing has served notice that he is running the eleven and that no one player is bigger than the squad. It is believed that one or two of the veterans got a disturbing complex as to their places in the football world and this upset the squad somewhat.

The principal work in preparation for Creighton will be blocking. Carl Kane is a sweet back and goes places whenever he gets past the line of scrimmage. Last Friday, he just about got started when he was slammed to earth. No blocking. Now, he has been shifted from right to left half and Wood has been assigned the task of blocking for him. Nobody has to order Kane to block when the play is the other way. He does it intuitively and efficiently.

Muellerleile expects his team to show against Creighton their real strength—the punch that was absent without leave in the Illinois Wesleyan game. Certainly, the Billikens will not fail by reason of lack of work or lack of spirit. They have shown real zeal in practice thus far this week and the chances are that the near-defeat of last week may work out to be the best thing that could have happened. The Billiken coaches hope so and believe so.

A victory over Creighton is sorely needed to restore the team's morale and every man on the Billiken squad will be used if necessary to achieve that victory.

Chicago Eleven, Not Dayton, to Oppose Gunners

Coach Charles Chiles Walsh last night looked the Chicago Tigers, a group of independent pro football players, to play the St. Louis Gunners Sunday afternoon at the Public Schools Stadium and arranged to have the Dayton team, the local pro opponents for this season, play later in the season.

Walsh and Edward J. Butler, president of the Gunners, learned yesterday that the Dayton squad would not be ready for the game on Sunday. So they made a deal with the Dayton squad to play later in the season.

The Gunners will be waged by Blake Walsh, Bill Senn and Stumpy Cook, who work for the Gunners. Joe Spudich and Juby Anderson are the Gunners' other players.

Walsh is expecting his new center, Ed Buchanan, of Kansas University, to arrive today. Nuiser Sam, a tackle from South Dakota, was released last night.

National A. A. U. Bantam Champion on Card Tonight

St. Louis boxing fans will be able to see the National A. A. U. bantamweight champion, Armand Sicilia of Springfield, Ill., and Keith Graves, Chicago Golden Gloves light heavyweight titleholder, in action at Benny Kessler's amateur boxing show tonight at the Coliseum. The first of eight bouts will start at 8:30.

Sicilia will oppose Maxie Schloss, Southern Illinois belt-winner from Du Quoin, and Graves will battle Herman West, Du Quoin's other glove monarch, in two of the five inter-city bouts.

Sicilia, a 19-year-old youngster of Italian extraction, has lost only two or three fights in three years of competition. Several of his important battles were won in Golden Glove tournaments in Chicago and New York. Although a native of Springfield, he was placed on the Windy City team which fought and defeated the New Yorkers two years in a row. Sicilia won his United States honors in the national championships here last April.

Schloss, Kayode Stanfield, Schloss, in his only scrap in St. Louis, knocked out Dave Stanfield, local champion, in two rounds. He made a hit with fans in that bout, for he displayed all the necessary essentials that make up a promising young fighter.

Graves, like Sicilia, handed lacerations to the New York Golden Gloves representative. A veteran amateur, he has lost only a few of his many fights. Eddie Ward and Bill Celebreon are two of his outstanding victims.

In West, Graves will be facing a fighter who handed Jackie Nichols a one-sided trouncing on the last local card. West, a two-fisted fighter, has emerged victorious in seven consecutive bouts.

The heavyweight feature will be fought by Irvin Strelbel, Western A. A. U. champion, and Ray Doll, Chicago's leading amateur heavyweight. Strelbel will be fighting for the first time since he reached the final round in the national tourney. Doll, a seasoned veteran, has a record that is heavily dotted with knockout conquests.

Tough Five for Webb.

In the two other inter-city battles, Jimmy Webb, St. Louis' best welterweight, will take on Johnny Martin, Golden Gloves king from Springfield, and Art Pierson, one of the cleverest lightweights in St. Louis, will face Russ Ringenberger, Peoria's outstanding fighter. Pierson and Webb, winners of a long string of matches since last winter, will be facing the toughest opponents of their careers.

For the preliminaries Kessler has such popular local champions as Gene Sutcliffe, Louis Wallach, Nichols, Stanfield, George Van Ronzelen and Al Beaulieu all set to fight.

Blues Train for Pro Game Sunday In North Carolina

Long hours of scrimmage drill was in store today for the St. Louis Blues of the American Football League, who travel to Charlotte, N. C., for their first American League game next Sunday.

Coach "Choppy" Rhodes of the Blues has learned considerable about the style of play of the Charlotte team, which battled the strong Louisville eleven in their opening league game last Sunday and was beaten, 7 to 0. The Blues' coach learned that Charlotte has a dangerous air attack by which it expects to defeat the Blues, so today he plans to spend many hours in drilling a defense for that style of attack and at the same time give the Blues a long scrimmage on their own offense, which also involves much passing.

"It was too bad we were unable to play Tulsa last Sunday," said Rhodes in commenting on the condition of his team for the start of the American League campaign.

"The boys were all keyed up for the opening last Sunday and naturally are inclined to let down a bit after their disappointment. We needed another ball game, but will overcome that by hard scrimmage work we have been going this week and will do today and tomorrow. The gang should be fit to hit on high by Sunday."

Hot competition for regular positions on the team has kept the Blues' players in a fighting spirit, especially for the last two weeks. There are especially hard battles for places at guard and fullback. At present there are five sturdy men trying for guard positions and the coach intends to carry only four of them. One new man, who started Monday, Rudy Golomb, former star at the University of Wisconsin and one of the candidates for a line position this fall with the Chicago Cardinals, is threatening to break in for a regular position.

The team plans to leave here Friday for Charlotte and will get back here Monday night and prepare next week for the first American League game at home when they take on the powerful Louisville team at the Public Schools Stadium a week from Sunday.

TEMPLE FOUR WINS U. S. OPEN POLO TITLE; WINSTON GUEST STARS

By the Associated Press.

WESTBURY, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The United States Polo Association apparently is going to have to do something about Winston Guest's eight-goal ranking.

The former Yale star, a spectacular figure in the East's recent victory over the West in the sectional series, played the same great brand of polo as he led his Templeton four to the national open championship. On the basis of his play during the past few weeks, he may find his rating boosted to the maximum of 10 goals before next season rolls around.

Guest was the dominant player on the field yesterday as Templeton outscored the defending Aurora four, 10-7, in the national open final.

Sigilio Scores Kayo.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Frankie Sigilio, hard-punching young Chicago lightweight, knocked out Battling Gizzy of Pittsburgh in the second of a 10-round bout here last night. The knockout came in the first real exchange of the fight. After boxing carefully in the first round, they opened up in the second. A hard right cross dropped Gizzy for the full count after one minute and nine seconds of the round. Sigilio weighed 139 pounds, Gizzy 138.

Lindenwood Tennis Victors.

Betty Butler and Jane Bowman defeated Betty Rowland and Ruth Ann McSpadden, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, in a tennis tournament held as a part of Sports day at Lindenwood College.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

21 OUT OF 23 ST. LOUIS CARDINALS SMOKE CAMELS

by FRANK FRISCH

INSPIRING LEADER. Frankie Frisch, fighting player-manager of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals. He, like 20 other Cardinals, is a Camel fan.

They sure made it hot for us this year, but the Cardinals came through in great style clear to the end when we needed every ounce of energy to win. We needed it—and we had it. There's the story in a nutshell. It seems as though the team line up just as well on their smoking habits as they do on the ball field. Here's our line-up on smoking: 21 out of 23 of the Cardinals prefer Camels.

"RIP" COLLINS. (Below) He says: "Poking out home runs takes a lot of energy—A Camel has a way of 'turning on' my energy. And when I'm tired I notice the same effect mentioned by so many Camel smokers—they help me to snap back quickly."

The World Series is in the book now. The Cardinals are on the top—supreme in the baseball world! Their astounding achievement will go down in history—a sensational charge from 7 games behind to win the pennant...and then the series! Timely hitting...great spirit...abounding energy...tell the story. They are champions—and popular champions. Frankie Frisch, Carleton, Rothrock, Orsatti, Leo Durocher, Bill Walker, Bill Hallahan, Medwick—all America knows this Cardinal team by heart and applauds its stirring victory. "What do the World Champions smoke?" A natural question. And above you get Frank Frisch's answer. The preference is overwhelmingly for Camels. Here's "Dizzy" Dean, who won 30 games this season including seven in 21 days on the home stretch: "I like Camels. Smoking a Camel sure brings back your energy after a hard game, or any time when you're tired." And Paul Dean, "Dizzy's" equally famous brother: "A Camel gives me the feeling of having more energy and never gives me jumpy nerves or leaves a 'cigarette' aftertaste." "Rip" Collins: "A Camel has a way of 'turning on' my energy." This from "Pepper" Martin: "I'm a steady smoker and I can smoke all the Camels I want without upsetting my nerves." Those are just a few comments. Camels have a delightful way of renewing energy. They have the mildness, the flavor. They don't interfere with healthy nerves.

The Cardinals' virtually unanimous preference for Camels is worthy of every smoker's attention. Be guided by their experience. Enjoy Camel's "energizing effect" which science has studied and confirmed. Camels are milder—made from a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS. They never get on your nerves!

"DUCKY" MEDWICK. (Below) "Smoking a Camel takes away the tired feeling as soon as I leave the field, turns on my 'pep' again. And when I'm smoking steadily Camels don't upset my nerves."

"PEPPER" MARTIN. (At right) "You'll almost always find me with a Camel when I'm not playing or working out. Because I like 'em. And because when I light a Camel I can actually feel all tiredness slip away."

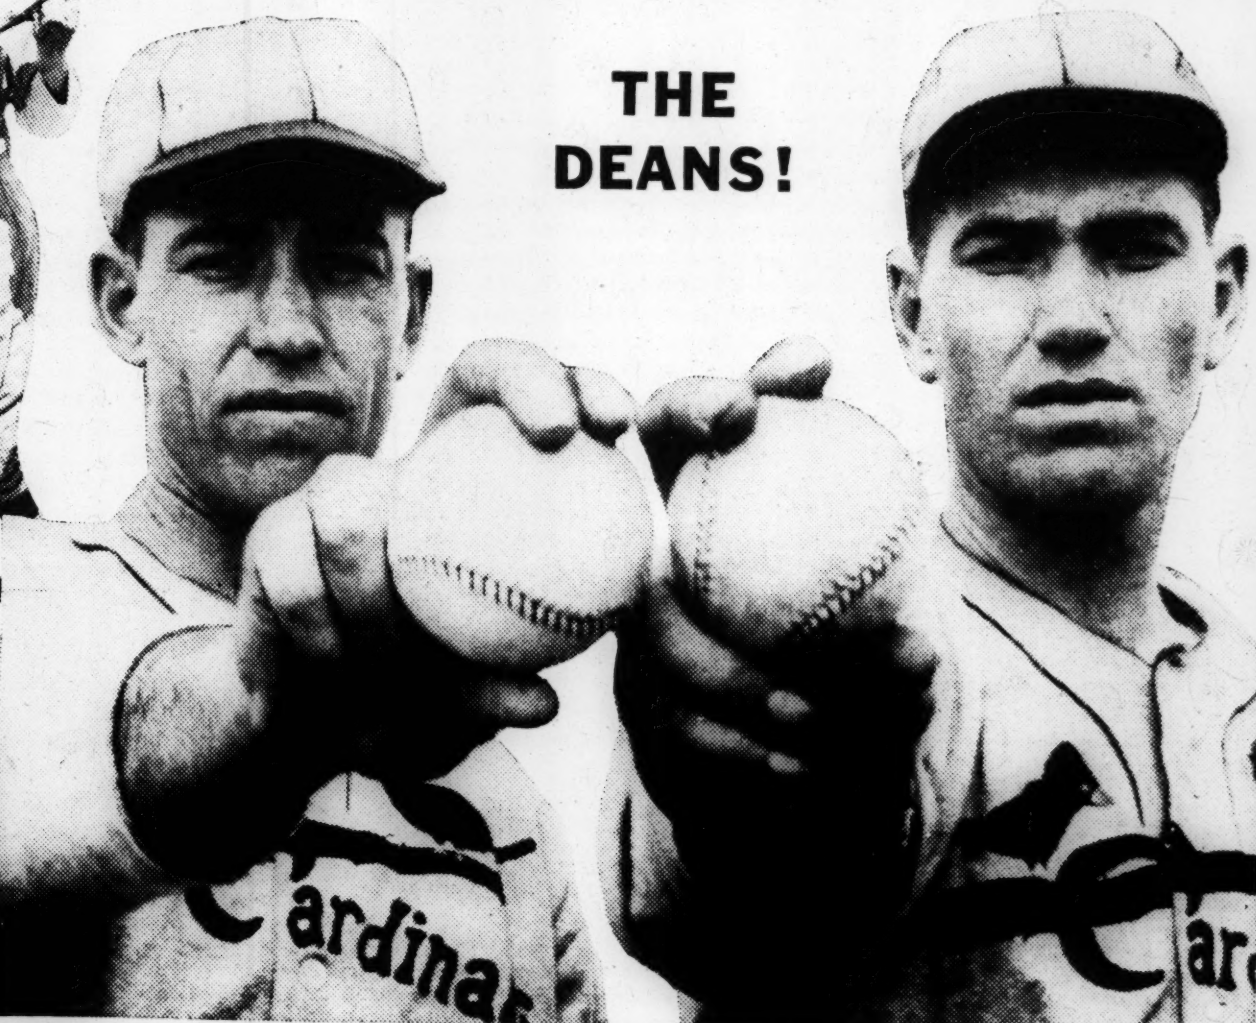

A TIP TO THE FANS...

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES!

THE DEANS!

PAUL DEAN. He says: "One good reason why I prefer Camels is that smoking a Camel gives me the feeling of having more energy. I think any Camel smoker will agree with this. It's certainly true in my case. Camels never give me jumpy nerves or leave a 'cigarette' aftertaste!"

JEROME "DIZZY" DEAN. "When you're out there facing the best hitters in baseball—then's when a man needs energy. Like many other big-league pitchers I smoke Camels. A Camel sure brings back your energy after a hard game, or any time when you're tired, and Camels never frazzle the nerves."

LEAF-TOBACCO EXPERTS AGREE:

"Camels are made from finer, More Expensive Tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

KIN OF ASSASSIN ARE SERVING TERMS

Parliament to Take Oath of Allegiance to Boy King Who Will Serve Under Regency.

By the Associated Press.
BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 10.—The government moved today to prevent an uprising in the Croatian provinces after it had formally given Prince Peter, 11-year-old son of the assassinated King Alexander.

A cabinet proclamation notified Croats that Peter is now King and will rule under a regency.

Hundreds of Croats fled over the border, fearing the assassination of Alexander may result in a new state. The government denied that there was any mobilization of troops as was rumored in foreign countries. It admitted the greatest precautions were being taken in Croatia, where feeling against the government runs high.

The national frontiers have been reopened. Reinforcements for the garrisons, hurriedly summoned to Belgrade when news of the king's death became known, were withdrawn.

Six Month Mourning Period.
St. Mark's church today tolled bells for the death of the king. The period of mourning was announced. All public buildings were draped in black and flags flown at half-mast.

Signs of sympathy were received from all parts of the world, including cables from President Roosevelt and the Pope.

Meanwhile belief was expressed that the assassin of King Alexander, a Croat, was now serving sentences in prison for complicity in the assassination of former Minister of Finance Dr. Miro Neudorfer.

Neudorfer was slain on his way to his post, Aug. 8, 1933. For his part in the killing, Tomo was sentenced to five months in prison. When they were released on trial both admitted membership in the Croatian Emigrants' organization "Ustasha."

Oaths of Loyalty Taken.
The House of Parliament was summoned to meet in extraordinary session tomorrow to take the oath of allegiance to the boy king, Peter, now en route home from London.

It was considered of marked significance here that the king, who was crowned Jan. 5, of this year, was made only a few weeks after three Croats made an attempt upon his life at Zagreb. His assailants were sentenced to death.

An oath of loyalty to the boy king already has been taken by members of the cabinet, the army and the navy.

Text of Proclamation.
The text of the government's proclamation making Peter King of the Jugo-Slavian people: "Whereas King Alexander fell tragically on Oct. 9 at Marseilles. He has left behind him a young son, Peter, who is now in London, and for whom he went to Marseilles and met his death in an attempt to assassinate him."

By virtue of paragraph 306 of the Constitution, Peter II is now King and the government and the army and the navy have taken an oath of loyalty to him.

The king's last word gave a royal trust, 'Guard Jugo-Slavia', and the government and the nation must be worthy of their king. Peter II is a minor, he must occupy the throne under a regency. Alexander's will appointed Prince Paul of Jugo-Slavia, former Minister of Education, Stankovitch, and Governor Mirovitch of Zagreb to the regency council.

Catholics on Trial in Mexico.
By the Associated Press.
MEXICO, D. F., Oct. 10.—Sixteen Catholic men and women accused of plotting with priests to start a rebellion against the Government, were on trial yesterday in the Second Federal District Court. Two of the accused men admitted giving money for the purpose mentioned, but most of the others denied taking part in any conspiracy.

His People Best Remember Alexander as Leader of Serbian Army in World War

Assassinated Jugo-Slav King Fond of His Children, Music, Movies and Hunting —Spent Youth in Exile.

By the Associated Press.
DICTATOR-KING ALEXANDER of Jugo-Slavia, although his rule was unpopular with many of his subjects, was to the day of his death remembered as the soldier-king, the man who led the brave little Serbian army against the Austrians.

He was in tune with the times, a fact evidenced by the trip on which he met his death. The visit to foreign ports had been calculated to cement his country's pacts with France to counterbalance the recent delicate Jugo-Slavian relations with Italy.

Alexander helped make history in Europe since the day he was born 46 years ago in the tiny town of Cetigne, then capital of the mountainous State of Montenegro.

The early years of his life he spent abroad in exile, being educated in Geneva, Paris and Petrograd. Then he returned to aid his father, Prince Peter, and to take an active part in the first and second Balkan wars of 1912 and 1913.

After the shot at Sarajevo, Alexander as Prince Regent led the Serbian army throughout the World War, sharing all the difficulties and horrors of the retreat through Albania.

Liked Children and Music.
Outside his duties as king and dictator, Alexander was passionately fond of his children and his music.

Modest, the monarch never touched the keys of a piano outside the royal palace, but there intimates of the family sat and listened while he played Jugo-Slav folk songs, and his wife, the former Princess Marie of Rumania, sang.

The queen, too, was his constant companion on long drives the king took in the afternoons from Belgrade. To country folk on the farms near the capital he was a familiar figure. Often he stopped at peasants' cottages to talk over problems of agriculture.

Took Long Walks Alone.
For exercise the king took long walks in the fields near the palace, unguarded, alone. He played tennis in the royal courts or rode horseback through the palace grounds.

Always the king was interested in things French. When his radio set could not pick up the broadcasts from the Eiffel Tower the king complained so loud and so long that American radio experts in Belgrade made him a set and presented it to him.

He was a constant patron of the theater, the opera and especially the motion pictures.

In the palace he had his own motion picture theater installed, where he frequently invited friends and associates to see American films. Most of such films were comedies starring Charley Chaplin, Harold Lloyd and Buster Keaton.

Recently his favorite motion picture stars have been Mickey Mouse and other animated cartoon heroes.

Also liked to hunt. During the infrequent periods when the king managed to leave Belgrade for a week-end he went to the regions of Jugo-Slavia where he could hunt wolf, bear, fox, chamois and stag. To the peasants of the hunting regions he was "Little Father." They always addressed him with the familiar "Thou."

Alexander smoked many cigarettes, drank wine moderately and was an omnivorous reader—especially of those books dealing with political, economic and military matters.

Slight, but of military bearing, mustached and bespectacled, American visitors to the palace were often struck by his facial resemblance to President Wilson—a man whom Alexander greatly admired.

400 CIVIL GUARDS REPORTED KILLED

Azana Captured.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Oct. 10.—Government troops concentrated today for an attack on revolutionaries in the labor districts of Asturias in Northern Spain.

San Sebastian reported 10 persons killed and an undetermined number wounded in a brush between striking workmen and soldiers. The soldiers reported capturing 40 strikers in a single house where a quantity of arms also was found.

Within the last few days more than 500 arrests have been made in the San Sebastian area and 24 persons face the death penalty. Sporadic shooting continued all night in Bilbao and along the entire northern coast.

3000 Volunteer Fighters.
In the Oviedo region Gen. Eduardo Lopez Ochoa, fresh from successful attacks on revolutionary bands in Trubia, expected to join other Government forces for a drive against the apparently well-armed rebels. Ochoa's forces were augmented by more than 3000 volunteers of the Populist and other Government parties who have performed valiantly in encounters to date.

As he left Aviles after subjugating that district, Gen. Ochoa reported much of the city was destroyed by fires which the rebels set when they fled.

Army officers said it was impossible to estimate the death toll in Asturias, but it "may reach a few thousand." Rebels are firmly entrenched there and a heavy bombardment will be necessary to cut through their stronghold.

As the Ochoa forces advanced toward Oviedo they reported having passed through centers where rebels had killed entire garrisons of civil guards, including their wives and families. More than 400 guards were reported slain.

Former Premier Captured.
Police captured former Premier Manuel Azana in Barcelona as he hid on a balcony. Arrested with him was a syndicalist leader, Angel Peneta, friend of the imprisoned Catalan President, Lluís Companys.

Congress opened with Socialist leaders and Republican deputies in hiding or in jail. President Alcala Zamora ordered that any Socialist deputy entering the chamber be brought to his office for questioning.

The Congress suspended after approving a law re-constituting the death penalty for the use of explosives and arms causing injury or death to persons, "for the duration of the present abnormal period."

At the first court-martial, Faustino Garcia Martin, an extremist sniper, was sentenced to 12 years imprisonment.

Three thousand customs and Treasury Department employees returned to work today.

Madrid's jails rapidly were filling as the number of arrested persons increased.

United States Ambassador Claude Bowers protested to the Government against the arrest of Edward Hunter, Universal Service correspondent. The Universal Service offices announced Hunter was arrested because of some irregularity in his papers at the border.

English Royal Court in Mourning.
LONDON, Oct. 10.—In respect to the memory of the late King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia the court of St. James's will go into full mourning for a 12-day period ending Oct. 22. It was officially announced today.

COAL CODE PRICE-FIXING STANDS FOR THE PRESENT

No Changes Will Be Made Until Industry Is Consulted, NRA Announces.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—NRA announced today that the bituminous coal code was in full force and that no changes would be made until "the industry has been consulted."

The official assurance to the industry against sudden revision of the code was understood to have been issued after protests against abandonment of its price-fixing provisions which followed recent public statements by Donald R. Richberg, policy adviser to President Roosevelt.

Bituminous coal is one of the four natural resource industrial codes having outright price fixing. The others are oil, lumber and retail code.

NRA also announced an indefinite stay of the structural steel and iron fabricating code. This code

KING'S "SENTENCE OF DEATH"

Penalty Imposed by Croats, Says Exile in U. S.

By the Associated Press.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 10.—Dr. Branimir Jelic, Croatian exile and representative of the Croatian National Committee in the United States, said today that the assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia "was not a murder, but the carrying out of a sentence of death imposed by the Croatian people on Alexander the Tyrant."

"The Croats are asking me for instruction as to what they should do and whether they should raise funds immediately. The Croatian people have been delivered from an oppressor. They want independence and freedom."

FEDERAL WIND EROSION PROJECT IN THE PANHANDLE

Effort to Reclaim 15,000 Acres
Will Be Made Around Dalhart, Tex.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Establishment of a Federal wind erosion control project, covering over 15,000 acres in the Panhandle section of Texas, is announced by the Interior Department.

According to H. H. Bennett, director of the Soil Erosion Service, farmers in the project area, as well as in the surrounding country, will be shown how to combat the erosive force which scattered millions of tons of rich topsoil over the country last summer. Every proved method of prevention will be used by experts of the service. The work will be carried out with an allotment of $70,000 from PWA funds.

The area selected for the project is in Dallam County, with headquarters at Dalhart.

COURT REFUSES TO ENJOIN SALES BELOW CODE PRICE

U. S. Tribunal in Mississippi Denies Petition to Prevent Filling of Lumber Contracts.

By the Associated Press.
YAZOO CITY, Miss., Oct. 10.—Petition by NRA for an injunction restraining Mississippi lumber companies from filling orders contracted at prices allegedly under code figures was denied by Federal Judge Edwin R. Holmes yesterday.

This setback for the price-fixing provisions of the lumber industries code came after an all-day hearing. Counsel for the NRA Compliance Director indicated the decision would be appealed.

Request for injunctions against four firms were to have been the first of a series of actions against 62 hardwood lumber companies in this State.

The petitions charged that the hardwood manufacturers had entered into contracts with the Fisher Corporation, Tennessee division of General Motors, at prices below the minimum set by NRA in its national code. The injunctions requested halting of execution of these contracts.

NRA counsel contended price-fixing authority was in the lumber and timber products code under the National Recovery Act.

Counsel for the lumbermen disputed this contention and won a second victory in price-fixing disputes within a week. It was a plea for the lumbermen which won an injunction hearing last Saturday before Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson in Memphis, Tenn., preventing enforcement of minimum price-fixing provisions in West Tennessee.

It was agreed by counsel yesterday that constitutionality of the National Recovery Act was not before the Court, nor were there any questions as to wage and hour provisions. The defense argued that Congress had not expressly authorized the President, through NRA, to use price-fixing provisions in codes.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—STRENUOUS inter-governmental efforts have been going on since the London conference of last week, but the question of whether or not Allen W. Dulles, ambassador to London, will be named as successor to Ambassador Norman H. Hays, remains undecided.

The State Department is for him, but the Navy Department is against him. He was under heavy fire during the London conference, and he was criticized for his handling of the London conference. He was also criticized for his handling of the London conference.

GAITED MARES WIN APPLAUSE AT ARENA

Crowd at National Show Cheers Throughout Performance Lasting 40 Minutes.

A program of 13 events, ranging from exhibitions of dainty Shetlands in harness to closely-fought contests of gaited thoroughbreds, was witnessed by a crowd of 6000 at the second session of the St. Louis National Horse Show last night at the Arena.

The show, given for the benefit of the firemen's pension fund, marked a high point in the history of exhibitions in St. Louis. Veteran horsemen from all parts of the Middle West said its like had never before been seen here. Earl Pemberton of Elizabethtown, Ky., one of the judges of the three and five gaited classes, declared he had never seen as comprehensive an exhibition of aristocracy in the horse show arena in the 25 years during which he has watched the good horses from the bad.

The outstanding feature of the evening was the eighth event for five-gaited saddle mares of any age. As they entered the ring, perfectly behaved, their manes and tails flowing, the crowd rose to its feet with a great shout, and throughout the 40 minutes taken by the judges in picking the winners, the audience never stopped its applause.

No Break in Behavior.

Around the ring for 20 minutes went the mares and their riders, first at a walk, then successively at slow gait, canter, rack and trot. They were reversed, their gaits were changed time and again, until finally the proud creatures were beginning to labor, but in their perfect show behavior there was no break. After the last line-up, six were taken out to perform again before the judges. Then there was a long conference among the silk-hatted arbiters, while the crowd wildly cheered its favorites, and the stable boys behind the fence sent up shrill, cowboy shouts.

The blue ribbon finally went to Belle Le Rose, a dashing black entered by Miss Mary Ballard of Dayton, O., and ridden by Earl Peters. Second ribbon went by a narrow margin to Golden Dawn, a chestnut, entered by the Willis Brook Farms of Malvern, Pa., and ridden by Walter Graham. The red ribbon was won by Night Flower, a brown mare entered by Dixiana Farm of Lexington, Ky., and ridden by Charles Dunn. Her stablemate, Dixiana Queen, a regal gray, ridden by Ross Long, placed fourth, apparently to the disappointment of the spectators, who had cheered her every time she came round the ring, and had murmured their sympathy when in the middle of the contest her curb chain parted and she had to be taken from the ring for several minutes while a new one was put on. The fifth ribbon was awarded to Cheerful Dawn, a dainty chestnut entered by R. S. D'Antoni of New Orleans and ridden by Billy Roberts.

Event for Juniors.

Fully as exciting for the spectators and no less difficult of decision for the judges was the first stake event of the show, a five-gaited event for juniors, four years or under, stallions, mares or geldings. Fourteen, one more than in the mares' contest, figured in this event. Chief of Spindletop, a chestnut gelding owned by Spindletop Stables of Beaumont, Tex., early caught the favours of the crowd as with neck proudly arched and tail flowing, he went through his gaits, ridden by Carl Pedigree. For once the laity and experts agreed. After the entrants had been lined up, run through their paces again, lined up again, and finally unsaddled, the judges awarded the chestnut the blue ribbon, while the crowd roared its approval. Second prize went to Sporting Chance, a spirited black gelding entered by Mrs. Frank Hoke of Indianapolis and ridden by Bob Brown; and third to Cynthia, a gray entered by Dixiana Farms and ridden by Charlie Dunn.

Fourth prize went to Belle Gwendolyn, chestnut mare entered by O. C. Ward of St. Louis Park, Minn.; fifth to Firefly Love, chestnut mare entered by Miss Amy Novich Freeman of San Antonio, Tex., and ridden by Frank Hattmann; and sixth to Barrymore's Rhapsody, a black gelding entered by the Winter-Hill Stables of St. Louis and ridden by J. W. McVain.

Contests for Hunters.

The early part of the program included a jumping event for hunters and the bill closed—at 1 a. m.—with another contest for hunters. In the first, a touch-and-out contest twice over four-foot posts and rail jumps, Springfield, a brown gelding entered by Harry Gorham of Morris, Ill., with Charles Gorham up, won the blue ribbon. Gorham was roundly applauded as he walked his mount back out of the ring after faultlessly negotiating the course. Second ribbon went to Symphony, a chestnut mare, in a thrilling ride by her owner, Miss Gladys G. Grey of St. Louis, who went over the barriers like a cavalryman. Symphony tipped the last jump with a hind foot to lose a chance of run-off for the blue ribbon.

For the next three places the judges ordered a second run. Feather Rock, a chestnut gelding owned by Bradford Shinkle of St. Louis and ridden by Chester Roberts, took the run-off to get third prize in the event. The chestnut was a bit skittish at the start, but under a dashing ride by Roberts was well over in the run-off. Fourth ribbon went to Jumping Jack, a black gelding, entered and ridden by Stanley Luke of LaGrange, Ill., and fifth to Grasslands, a gray gelding owned by M. E. Rowan of St. Louis and ridden by Hart Vance Jr.

Trying Jumps in Last.

The final jumping event, for middle and heavy-weight hunters, carrying 185 pounds, was over Course B, a succession of eight varied and trying jumps. Sixty per cent was awarded by the judges on performance, 40 on fencing, conformation and manners of horses entered.

Cheers of the thinning crowd went to The Phantom, a strapping gray ridden by Donald Scott Sharpe of St. Louis for the only perfect performance over the course. When the prize finally was awarded to another, The Phantom, unsaddled and bundled in a blanket, was quietly eating a carrot out of his master's gloved hand.

The blue ribbon went to Niel, a handsome bay gelding owned by Mrs. Ethel Kendall Weil of Chicago and ridden by Stanley Luke. Niel tipped a picket in the fence jump, but overcame the minor mischance by winning out on points, with The Phantom taking the second ribbon. Third prize went to Gay Pete, a chestnut ridden by Miss Jane Johnson, 1933 Veiled Prophet Queen, which began the course by refusing the in-and-out jump, but then continued through the course and, under Miss Johnson's skillful hands, made only two other errors, touches on the wall and the gate jumps.

Luke rode another of Mrs. Weil's horses, Flying Andy, a gray gelding, into fourth place. Fifth place went to Colonel, a great bulky chestnut gelding owned and ridden by Paul Bakewell III of St. Louis.

Joseph Hoy, rider for Clarence Whalen of Minneapolis, won the applause of the audience, but no prize, for his skillful ride of Check Out, a brown gelding, which became a little unruly on the course, refusing the natural bridge, in-and-out, and fence, and almost unseating the rider by pulling up short at the hedge. Unperturbed, Hoy turned each time for another try, and slapping his mount resoundingly on the flanks with the flat of his hand, took it over the jumps for a thrilling ride.

Among those present at last night's show was Miss Jane Wells, Veiled Prophet Queen for 1934. The Cardinals have been invited to attend the show in a body tonight.

Summary of Events.

A summary of winners of last night's events follows: Model three-gaited saddle horse, shown in lead, first, Lady Virginia, entered by Spindletop Stables, Beaumont, Tex.; second, Montrose, entered by Willis Brook Farms, Malvern, Pa.; third, Belle Woodford, entered by Red Fox Farm, Louisville, Ill.; fourth, Glad Acres Sally Rand, entered by Glad Acres Farm, Dallas, Tex.; fifth, Beau Richelieu, entered by R. SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS ALICE SULLIVAN, debutante daughter of Mrs. Robert J. B. Sullivan of Netherby Hall Apartments, will be presented to society at a ball at the Bridle-spur Hunt Club, Friday, Nov. 30. Preceding the ball several dinner parties will be given, the hostesses to be announced later in the month. Miss Sullivan was the guest of honor at an elaborate supper dance given at Narragansett Pier, R. I., late in the summer by her uncle, J. Banigan Sullivan of New York. Mrs. Sullivan, her daughter and her son, Robert J. B. Sullivan, spent the summer at Narragansett Pier following a trip around the world.

Miss Elizabeth Russe, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Russe, 4380 McPherson avenue, will be the guest of honor Sunday afternoon at a mixed tea to be given by Mrs. Guthrie McConnell, at her home, 401 North Newstead avenue. The guests have been invited from 5 to 7 o'clock. This will be the first party in Miss Russe's honor. Plans for her debut have not been announced. She is a graduate of the John Burroughs School and Smith College, class of last June.

Yesterday invitations were received from Mrs. Thomas Murray Pierce for a reception Thursday afternoon, Oct. 25, at which she will introduce her daughter, Miss Roberta Pierce, to society. The party will be given at the Pierce home. A dinner dance will be given for the debutante later in the season.

Miss Antoinette Schaffly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Schaffly, Westminster place, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon for a group of the debutantes Monday, Oct. 29, at the Bellevue Country Club. The hostess will be Miss Schaffly's grandmother, Mrs. Edward John Fraenkel.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Ewing Glasgow, 5185 Lindell boulevard, are expected home Monday from a visit of several weeks abroad. In mid-August they sailed from New York for Rome to be the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Breckinridge Long at the Embassy. After spending a few weeks there they motored in Switzerland, France, England, Scotland and Ireland.

Mrs. William P. Biddle, who accompanied her granddaughter, Miss Martha Nicolaus, daughter of Louis J. Nicolaus, 4499 Lindell boulevard, home after a trip together to Mexico, will leave for Los Angeles, Cal., about Oct. 20. During her visit here, Biddle is a guest at the Nicolaus home.

MISS SALLY GREEN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leigh Green, 12 Kingsbury place, is planning a second lengthy absence in the West, following a similar one from which she recently returned. She will leave St. Louis Nov. 1, and may visit in New York before crossing the continent to Santa Fe, N. M., to spend the winter. She will live with Miss Olive Rush, well-known artist, and assist with frescoes in which Miss Rush is especially interested.

Miss Green has studied art for several years and attended St. Louis School of Fine Arts before and after her debut several seasons ago. Last year she was a member of the artists' colony in Santa Fe, where she had Miss Rush's house for six months with Mrs. Harry Ladd, who at that time was Mrs. James Mahler Adams of St. Louis. Later she spent some time in Taos and a month in Mexico City and Taxco, where she studied the work of famous artists. Among the interesting social affairs Miss Green attended in Mexico was a ball given by President Rodriguez Lopez of Colombia at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Her escorts were Carlos Riveroll and Carlos Ping, both of the Mexican diplomatic service. Mr. Ping's father is Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Mrs. Green joined her daughter in June for the trip to Mexico, and Miss Green's sister, Mrs. Walter Westerman Shipley, occupied her house in Santa Fe.

Mrs. E. M. Grossman, 426 Lake avenue, and her daughters, Miss Mary Somerville and Miss Althea Grossman, have returned home after a four-month absence in Europe. Most of the time was spent in Ireland, where they visited English relatives of Mrs. Grossman, who live in Dublin. Among the Irish points of interest in which they stayed were the Aran Islands, off the West Coast; Killarney and Tipperary. Mrs. Grossman and her daughters were especially interested in the luxurious and unusual plant life. Holly, which is peculiar to the North in this country, grows beside tropical palm trees in rural Ireland.

In September, Mrs. Grossman and her daughters were in London and Paris.

Dr. and Mrs. Roland M. Klemme, 329 North Union boulevard, entertained at a dinner party at the home Monday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Banister Slaughter of Mobile, Ala., who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris of Ferguson. The guests included: Mr.

and Mrs. Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Earl M. Conner, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Culver Jr., Miss Hilda Schroeter and John E. Sullivan.

Mrs. Calvin L. Lightner and her sister, Mrs. Allen V. Cockrell, 4 North Kingshighway, arrived Sunday evening from Fish Creek, Wis., where they spent the summer at Mrs. Lightner's cottage. They have been away since May.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Moore, 36 Portland place, returned Sunday night from North Haven, Me., where they spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Casey Nugent and their son, Morgan, have returned from Berkeley, Cal., where they spent the summer, and are at the Park Plaza for the winter.

Mrs. Goodman King of the Park Plaza returned last week from her summer visit at Biddeford Pool, Me.

Mrs. Robert Milton Russell and her brother, Albert E. Cunliff, 15 Windermere place, will leave today for an extended motor trip in the East. They will spend the greater part of their time in Washington, D. C., and New York.

The administrative board of control of the City Art Museum has sent invitations for a lecture, "Henry Adams—The Man," by Dr. Ralph Adams Cram, noted architect, Tuesday evening, Oct. 16 at 8:30 o'clock. This will be the first of a series of lectures, known as the Henry Adams series, established by the American Institute of Architects. The second lecture, entitled "Henry Adams, Philosopher and Prophet," under the auspices of the schools of Architecture and Fine Arts of Washington University, will be given in January Hall of the University Thursday afternoon, Oct. 18.

Junior Advertising Club Officers. Milton Jungbluth, an employee of the Western Newspaper Union, was elected president of the Junior Advertising Club last night at a meeting at the Castella restaurant. Other officers named were Stuart M. Stevens, Al Maescher and W. A. Wallenbrook, vice-presidents; Mel Jones, secretary, and Henry M. Heuselmeier, treasurer. The organization was founded here in 1915.

Anti-War Group to Meet. The Youth Section of the American League Against War and Fascism will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at the Neighborhood House, Nineteenth and Washington streets.

"CARMEN" TO BE PRESENTED AT AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

Opera Ballet of St. Louisans to Have Important Part in Production.

As its second offering of the season, the St. Louis Grand Opera Company will present Bizet's "Carmen" tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the Opera House of the Municipal Auditorium. Genaro Papi will conduct.

Giovanni Martinielli, Metropolitan Opera tenor, will have the lead part of Don Jose, supported by Cos Glade, Chicago Grand Opera contralto, as Carmen. Lucy Monroe will sing the part of Micaela and Alfredo Gandolfi the part of Escamillo.

The opera ballet, composed of St. Louisans, will have an important part in the production of "Carmen" and Miss Rita De Lepore, premiere danseuse of the Metropolitan Opera, and Arthur Mahoney will do a dance duo. The third opera in the fall series will be "Madame Butterfly" on Saturday night.

Movements of Ships.

Arrived. Liverpool, Oct. 8, American Importer, New York. Cherbourg, Oct. 9, Aquitania, New York.

The Clover Club . . . by Frank of Chicago's Edgewater Beach Hotel

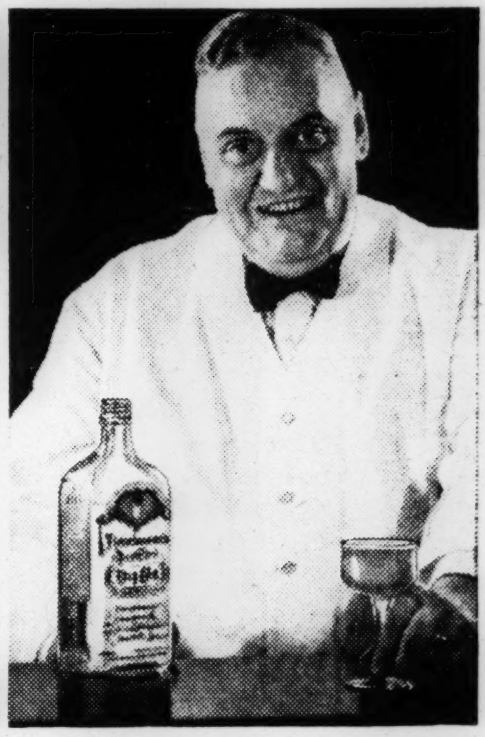

"Use an American Gin that blends properly," says Frank Seidel of Chicago's famous Edgewater Beach Hotel.

"Into a tall mixing glass, I first squeeze the juice of a fresh lemon. Then I add two dashes of grenadine.

"Now an ounce and a half of gin. After adding ice, I pour in the white of an egg and shake the mixture in a mixing glass. Serve in four-ounce glass.

"Gin can either 'make' or 'break' the taste of a cocktail. I like to use Fleischmann's because it blends better and gives a far superior flavor to any mixed gin drink."

Smooth or Raw—the GIN does it

To make a delicious Clover Club requires an American Gin . . . like Fleischmann's . . . a gin specially distilled to blend in mixed drinks

HAVE YOU ever tasted a Clover Club that was so smooth—so mild—it just eased down your throat like honey—yet left you with that warm, pleasant afterglow? Not a trace of bite or sting!

That's the kind of a cocktail you can make in your own home with a smooth American gin—like Fleischmann's.

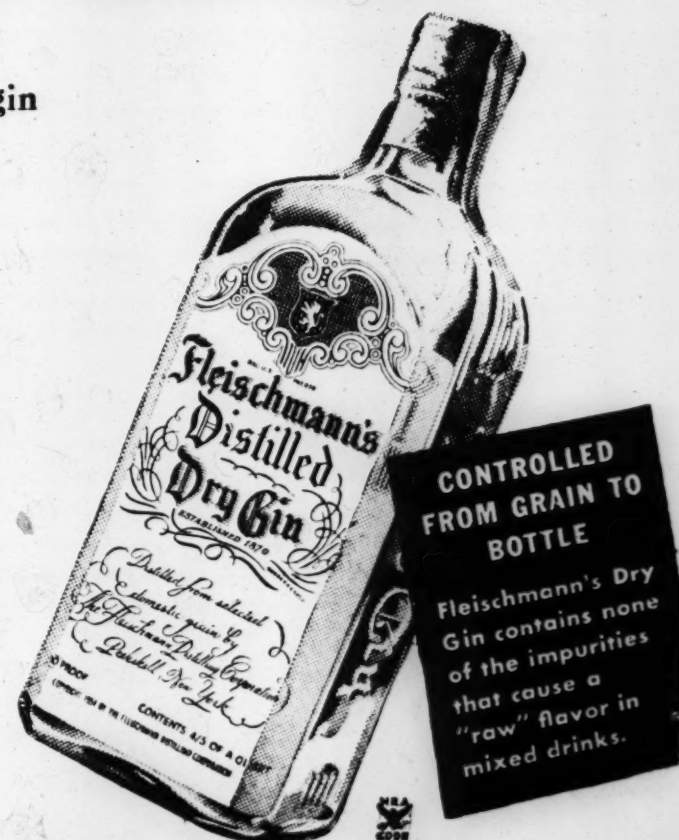

Fleischmann's Gin is specially distilled to blend perfectly with other liquors and fruit juices. It brings out the hidden, subtle flavors of the other ingredients.

Most American people prefer this mild, smooth American-type gin to the strong-flavored so-called "London" or Holland gins, which, of course, were not originally intended for mixing.

Fleischmann's is an American gin—distilled from American grains—from a distinctly American formula—to satisfy the American demand for a milder, smoother gin.

Buy a bottle of Fleischmann's Gin. Mix up a Clover Club—a Martini—or any gin drink that you prefer. Notice its mild flavor, its fragrant bouquet as you lift it to your lips. You'll understand why "it takes an American gin to make a smooth American cocktail."

CONTROLLED FROM GRAIN TO BOTTLE

Fleischmann's Dry Gin contains none of the impurities that cause a "raw" flavor in mixed drinks.

23 PCT. ON RELIEF IN ST. CLAIR COUNTY

441 Families Added to Rolls in September — $290,000
Spread Among 37,083.

Relief rolls in St. Clair County continued to increase during September, mounting by 441 families to a total of 10,780, or 37,083 individuals out of the county's population of 137,000. This is 23 per cent of the population. The relief allocation for the month was $290,000, representing an increase of $31,600 over August and including $24,000 administrative costs.

Miss Claudine Rodgers, relief administrator, said that 15 per cent of the families receive "supplementary relief," that is, foodstuffs which enable them to subsist on inadequate wages. Many families on relief have employment, but do not earn enough fully to provide for themselves. Since May, 1932, when the disbursement per average family was $8.54, the budget has risen steadily, until it now amounts to $26. Any family receiving less than this is eligible for supplementary relief — a circumstance which has swelled the rolls, Miss Rodgers explained.

Smaller Families Seek Aid.

She said that heretofore the number of individuals on relief had been estimated on a basis of 4.5 persons per family, but that a recent statistical analysis had shown the average per family is now 3.44. These smaller families have managed to stay off relief longer than the larger families, but now, after a long period of unemployment, they, too, have exhausted their resources and are compelled to seek aid, Miss Rodgers said.

Persons who wish to receive their relief allowances in cash rather than in grocery orders are assigned to work projects. At present, approximately 1000 men are at work on these projects. In East St. Louis, however, such work has been halted by the picketing activities of associations of unemployed, who are demanding full rather than part-time employment.

At the Federal Shelter for Transients, at Ninth street and Brady avenue, 4388 unattached men and 113 families were cared for during September. The Negro shelter cared for 924 individuals. An average of 740 whites and Negroes were cared for daily, and the average cost per lodger was 52 cents. This sum included administrative costs, meals, lodging, clothing and medical care. Of the September number, 200 were East St. Louis homeless.

Fay & Egan Co. of Cincinnati, woodworking machinery concern, was a member of University City Lodge 649 of Masons, and of the Shrine Temple of St. Louis.

RUPPERT WARNS BREWERS AGAINST 'PROFESSIONAL DRYS'

"We Have Hard Fight," He Says, to Prevent Drift Back to Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Jacob Ruppert said yesterday that brewers must defend themselves against the activities of "professional prohibitionists" and declared that if they did not the country might drift back toward prohibition.

Otherwise they "will live to regret it," Ruppert told the United States Brewers' Association, of which he is president.

"Don't go out thinking that all is sunshine; we have a hard fight ahead of us," he said, adding that his statement applied to eight or 10 states of the nation.

No energy from Stale Coffee—but Fresh Coffee gives you a big increase in pep!

JUST as much caffeine in stale coffee as in fresh coffee—yes! But science has discovered that it isn't just caffeine that gives new energy, quickly. Caffeine takes a long time to produce even the slightest energizing effect.

But fresh coffee contains other substances that give you that instant lift.

These substances, recent metabolism tests show, act immediately. Jump your energy production up quickly and keep it high for hours!

Stale coffee can't do that for you, because its wonderful energizing substances have been destroyed. Science says you're worse off after a couple of cups of stale coffee than if you had drunk no coffee at all—stale coffee actually causes a drop in energy!

If you want to "drink energy"—ask for Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee. There's no doubt about its freshness. It's the only coffee delivered nationally like a fresh food—with the date of delivery marked on every pound. We watch that

Stale Coffee drops you BELOW the Energy Level at which you started

Science finds that stale coffee gives you only a very slight lift—and then sends your energy production way down. Fresh coffee gives you a big increase in pep and vitality that lasts for hours!

Ten Prizes . . . $25 each in cash

50 Prizes . . . $10 each in cash

100 Prizes . . . $5 each in cash

We offer you all these great prizes solely to get you acquainted with Aristos . . . the wonderful flour that bakes everything perfectly . . . that eliminates those annoying disappointments and costly baking failures.

IT WAS GREAT WINNING THAT EASY ARISTOS FREE RENT CONTEST! NO MORE RENT TO PAY FOR MORE THAN A YEAR!

YES—AND ARISTOS IS THE FINEST FLOUR FOR ALL BAKING I EVER USED. LOOK AT THIS CHOCOLATE CAKE!

PUT YOURSELF IN THIS PICTURE

THIS IS ALL YOU DO: Tell us in a letter of 200 words or less, "Why I prefer Aristos 'Never-Fail' Flour for all my baking." Send your letter to us with the name cut from a bag of Aristos . . . the flour that assures success every time you bake!

You are reading here on this page about a contest that is probably the most remarkable opportunity ever offered to the housewives of America!

It gives you a magnificent chance to free your family from what is by all odds the most worrisome of all household expenses—the rent! Just think! At the conclusion of this great contest your family may very well be the family that will live RENT FREE for an entire year or more!

NO SKILL NEEDED TO WIN

Yet this is one contest that is simplicity itself. All you have to do to win as much as free rent for a year or more is to tell us something most of you already know by heart . . . why you prefer Aristos "Never-Fail" Flour for all your baking.

No skill whatever is needed. Literary ability is absolutely unnecessary. All we want are just your reasons for using Aristos Flour . . . written as you would tell them to a friend. And for the best simple, short letters of not more than 200 words we offer 163 prizes (see complete prize list above) . . . 163 chances for you to win!

But if there were no prizes whatever, this contest would be well worth your while entering. Because, for many of you, it will be your introduction to the wonderful flour that will give you such marvelous results you'll want to sit right down and write about it.

EASY TO WRITE ABOUT RESULTS LIKE THESE

For Aristos "Never-Fail" Flour does what women have long hoped a flour would do! It eliminates the most common cause of all baking failures!

This cause, as home bakers and cooking authorities know, is undependable flour. That is, flour that varies from bag to bag . . . flour that is not the same every time you buy it. Such flour unbalances even the surest-fire recipe and thus causes those annoying disappointments and costly failures.

But Aristos is one flour that never varies! Every bag is exactly the same—no matter when or where you buy it. For Aristos is scientifically milled by a unique process that guarantees uniformity. And it is tested again and again for perfect results under the same conditions that exist in your own kitchen.

Just get a bag of Aristos Flour from your grocer and bake your favorite recipe with it. Bake it as many times as you wish. You'll find that it will be perfect—every time. You will never have a failure due to flour if you use Aristos!

A TRUE ALL-PURPOSE FLOUR, TOO!

And it doesn't make a scrap of difference what you bake! It may be bread . . . pie . . . cake . . . biscuits . . . anything. For Aristos is the ideal All-Purpose Flour.

With Aristos in your kitchen you'll never have the slightest need for any other flour. You'll never have to buy "special" or "prepared" flours. For Aristos is made from a perfectly balanced blend of choice wheats—just the right varieties in just the right proportions to make Aristos the perfect flour for all your baking.

GET ARISTOS—ENTER CONTEST—TODAY

So go to your grocer's today and get your bag of Aristos Flour! Use it for anything you want to bake. Then cut the name "Aristos" off the bag. Write your letter and send both to us (see address under "Contest Rules").

You will then be entered in Aristos' great Free Rent Contest . . . with a fine chance to win a year's—or more—rent, up to $1000, or any one of the other 162 cash prizes!

Bake this gorgeous CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE

—then see how easy your letter is to write!

1 1/2 cups butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla

1 1/2 cups sifted Aristos "Never-Fail" Flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3/4 cup milk

Cream butter, add sugar, gradually, beat until light. Beat in eggs one at a time; add vanilla. Sift flour into measuring cup lightly. Add baking powder, salt, sift three times. Add flour alternately with milk, beating enough to blend thoroughly. Pour into greased layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes. Yields two 8" layers. Top with your favorite chocolate frosting.

HOME FOR AGED PROVIDED IN WILL OF MRS. COLNOR

Residue of Estate to Go for Establishment After $398,000 in Specific Bequests Are Fulfilled.

The will of Mrs. Katharine Colnor, who died Sunday at her home, 4569 West Pine boulevard, makes specific bequests totaling $398,000, including $85,000 to St. Louis Catholic charities, and leaves the residue of her estate for establishment of a home for aged men and women as a memorial to her husband, the late Redmond S. Colnor, and her father, the late Jeremiah Fruin.

Mrs. Colnor was the sole heir of her husband, president of the Fruin-Colnor Construction Co., who died in 1927, leaving an estate appraised at $860,000. Philip C. Wise, attorney for her estate, said he could not estimate its value, pending an inventory, but expressed the opinion that a substantial sum would remain after payment of the specific bequests. The will was filed for probate yesterday.

$30,000 for Archbishop.
The residuary estate is left in trust with Archbishop Glennon, Joseph E. Vollmar and A. P. Greensfelder. The Archbishop is also to receive a bequest of $30,000 to establish six courses for educating young men in the priesthood. The following 11 Catholic organizations are to receive specific bequests of $5000 each: Little Sisters of the Poor, Society of St. Vincent de Paul, Father Dempsey's Home, Carmelite Convent, Convent of Good Shepherd, Helpers of the Holy Souls, St. Joseph's Deaf Mute Institute, St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, St. Mary's Orphan Asylum and Sacred Heart Convent.

To her brother, John J. Fruin of Wichita, Kan., Mrs. Colnor left $60,000 in trust with the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. After his death the principal is to be returned to the estate to be used for the home for the aged.

Friends and Employees Share.
Other specific bequests totaling $233,000 to relatives, friends and employees are: $40,000 each to Mrs. Jennie Quinn of Watertown, N. Y., and Mrs. Adelaide Smith of Oswego, N. Y.; $20,000 each to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Colnor of New York; and Jerry and Alfred Fruin, sons of John J. Fruin; $13,500 each to Aaron, Thomas and Redmond Colnor, sons of the late John Colnor; $5000 to Mrs. Lily Wolford, 3534A Wyoming street; $4000 to Miss Marie Gass, 3525 McKean avenue; $3000 each to Mother Annette, Quebec, Can., and Miss Carolyn Dummeyer, assistant secretary of the Fruin-Colnor Co.; $2000 to John Barringer III of Washington, Miss Nona Clarke of 1019 Hamilton avenue, Andrew C. Eryan and Miss Augusta Wittman of 1801 Elliot avenue; $1000 each to Mrs. Josephine La Barge Conran, 6041 Waterman avenue and her son, Palmer.

Three household employees are named with bequests of $5000 to William Shippers, $2500 to Rena Gahan and $500 to Kate Bock. Another bequest of $20,000 is made to Cornell University, to be used for four scholarships in the engineering school. These scholarships are to be memorials to Mrs. Colnor's husband.

Vollmar, one of the trustees of the residuary estate, is to receive most of Mrs. Colnor's personal belongings.

PATTERSON SAYS GOVERNMENT COMPETES WITH INDUSTRY

Declares Policy Will Be Greatly Extended If Administration Gets Renewed Power.

By the Associated Press.
MARSHALL, Mo., Oct. 10.—Senator Roscoe C. Patterson, Republican nominee for re-election, said in a campaign speech here last night that the Roosevelt administration had adopted a policy of "entering into competition with private business whenever possible."

"This administration," he said, "recently announced it would undertake the manufacture of 18,000 pairs of shoes in Government-operated shops. Notwithstanding the endeavor to sugar-coat the proposal as a relief measure, the fact remains that the undertaking of this work by the Government would mean much less work for the workers in the established factories."

"And those who have followed the policy of the Government know that once it undertakes an activity of this kind, it is rarely, if ever, abandoned."

"The shoe interests quickly sensed the danger to their industry and such vigorous protests were made to the administration that the project was abandoned for the time being, but for the time being only. Give this administration another lease of power and the socialistic brain trusters now in control of the nation's affairs will soon have the Government in competition with the shoe manufacturers, but with all other private manufacturers, which will ultimately mean the end of private industry."

"When American labor must go to the Government for employment and obtain such employment only on the terms laid down by bureaucrats in Washington, the freedom of the American worker will be at an end."

"This newly discovered Yeast is much quicker-acting...it's amazing Doctors!"

reports DR. R. E. LEE
Director of Fleischmann Health Research

Corrects Constipation, Stomach and Skin Troubles FAR FASTER

DR. LEE, authority on Yeast for Health, is in touch with medical scientists all over the world. He says: "This new yeast is amazing doctors everywhere."

NEW, STRONGER "STRAIN" of Yeast, discovered in U. S. medical college, amazingly rich in hormone-like* substances... speeds digestive juices and muscles. (Newly-added Vitamin A helps to combat colds, too!)

JUST ANNOUNCED, yet already the news has cheered millions... has amazed doctors everywhere! Hundreds of questions have been asked. Below, Dr. Lee answers the questions asked most often:

1. Just how is this new yeast different from the former Fleischmann's Yeast?

It's a totally new type of fresh yeast—an entirely new "strain." Far stronger. It acts more vigorously inside your body... much faster!

2. How was it Discovered... by whom?

By a famous bacteriologist in a great American medical college, who had been studying yeast for years! He was literally astonished by the far quicker action of this new yeast.

3. How was it "Tried Out"?

By well-known doctors throughout America and Europe... on hundreds of their stubborn cases of constipation, indigestion, skin troubles. Results were the "talk" of the clinics! The doctors asked for more and more of the yeast.

4. How do Physicians explain it?

As doctors now know, the chief reason most people get constipated, have stomach troubles and related ills is—their digestive juices and muscles have slowed up! As a result, their food doesn't digest, isn't eliminated properly.

*This new "XR" Yeast (that's the scientists' name for it) is exceedingly rich in hormone-like substances ("activators") which speed up these juices and muscles all through your digestive system amazingly!

5. Why does it correct Constipation and Indigestion so much faster?

Because it makes your digestive juices flow faster and muscles work harder all the way from the stomach on down! Food is more quickly softened, digested, passed along and out of your body. You soon can eat things you couldn't eat before—without experiencing that "stuffed" feeling, indigestion or constipation.

Isn't that better than harsh cathartics? "XR" Yeast actually "normalizes" you.

6. Does the Skin clear quicker?

Yes! Skin troubles (usually) come from poisons that aren't thrown off by the intestines. "XR" Yeast corrects this self-poisoning—makes your blood purer—skin healthier. Pimples, boils, etc., soon clear up.

7. Will "Run-down" feeling go?

Usually! Patients often feel better almost at once! You should start immediately to get more "good" from your food—have fewer headaches —better appetite—much more vigor.

After 40, especially, people need "XR" Yeast to correct the slowing of digestive secretions occurring rapidly after that age. It also helps in many cases of rheumatism, by correcting an often related ill—auto-intoxication in the body.

8. Will it help reduce Colds?

Yes—by "cleansing" your system and supplying newly-added Vitamin A, the "infection-preventing" vitamin. Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast is also rich in Vitamins B, D and G—four important vitamins we all need!

EAT 3 CAKES EVERY DAY:

... plain, or dissolved in one-third glass of water—preferably half an hour before each meal. If you're taking cathartics, discontinue them gradually. Keep on with Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast after you've begun to get quick results—until you feel thoroughly well. Get a supply—and begin now!

(As good as ever for baking!)

DR. ROBERT LATZEL, the noted clinic head, reports: "XR" Yeast twice as quick-acting, due to amazing effect on digestive juices and muscles—by my own tests."

ROSEGRANT PLEA FOR RETRIAL TO BE ARGUED SATURDAY

Counsel for Convicted Kel- ley Kidnapers Lists 47 Charges of Error in Making Request.

MOTION IS FILED WITH JUDGE NOLTE

If It Is Overruled, At- torneys Say They Will Take Appeal to the Su- preme Court.

Forty-seven allegations of error in the trial of Angelo Rosegrant, convicted last Friday before Circuit Judge Nolte at Clayton of kidnaping Dr. Isaac D. Kelley for ransom, are listed in his motion for a new trial, filed yesterday. The jury which convicted Rosegrant fixed punishment at 20 years in prison. The motion includes a set of exhibits, extracts from the record, in support of the defense contention that prejudicial statements were made to the jury by the prosecution in closing arguments. Hearing on the motion is scheduled before Judge Nolte for next Saturday. Rosegrant's lawyers have announced they will appeal to the Supreme Court, if their motion is overruled.

Detailed Allegations of Error.

The detailed allegations of the defense, as set forth in the motion, state that, in the course of the trial, the Court erred in the following respects:

In denying the oral motion to set aside the order granting a change of venue, and overruling the same over protests and objections.

In denying the defendant's application to disqualify Judge Nolte, and in changing the venue over objection.

In refusing to include, in the instructions to the jury, Instruction A prepared by the defense, as to circumstantial evidence.

Same as to defense Instruction C, on the question of Adolph Fiedler.

(State's key witness) being an accomplice, and on question as to corroboration of Fiedler.

The Court erred in refusing, over the objection and exception of the defendant, instruction B, asked by the defendant.

The Court erred in refusing, over the objection and exception of the defendant, instructions D, E, F, G, and H, asked by the defendant.

Objections to the Verdict.

The verdict in the case is against the evidence and law under the evidence.

The verdict is indefinite, uncertain and does not inform the defendant of the offense of which he was convicted.

The verdict was for the wrong party on all evidence in the case.

The Court erred in overruling the defendant's motion to quash the indictment.

The Court erred in overruling the defendant's demurrer to the indictment.

The Court erred in overruling the separate plea in bar of the defendant to the jurisdiction of the Court.

The Court erred in overruling the defendant's demurrer to the evidence at the close of the State's case.

The Court erred in overruling the defendant's demurrer at the close of all the case.

The Court erred in overruling objections and exceptions of the defendant in modifying defendant's application to disqualify the Judge to read as an application of defendant for a change of venue.

The Court erred in denying the oral motion of defendant to set aside the order granting a change of venue and overruling same over the objections and exceptions of the defendant.

Further Allegations.

Instruction No. 2 given by the Court is erroneous, illegal and bad because it is not based upon nor authorized by the allegations of the indictment and submits to the jury facts and questions not within the issues of the case.

Instruction No. 2 is erroneous and bad because it hypothesizes the guilt of the defendant upon a finding of facts not comprehended by the allegations of the indictment and not within the purview of the statutes pleaded in the indictment.

Instruction No. 2 is erroneous and bad because it is based upon illegal, incompetent, hearsay evidence admitted over the objection of the defendant.

Instruction No. 3 is illegal, erroneous and bad because it assumes the conspiracy in question was "accomplished or abandoned," and in either event authorizes the jury to regard the acts and declarations of any of the defendant's co-defendants, done or made singly, individually or alone and not in his presence, as the acts or declarations of the defendant.

The law stated in Instruction 3 is not applicable to the substantive offense of kidnaping charged in the indictment. Instruction 3 is an erroneous declaration of the law of the case. Instruction 3 is not based upon nor authorized by the allegations of the indictment and submits to the jury facts and questions not within the issues of the case.

Instruction No. 3 is hypothesized upon illegal, incompetent and hearsay evidence improperly admitted over the objection of the defendant. Instruction No. 3 is erroneous and bad because it authorized the jury to take into consideration in determining the guilt of the defendant the acts and declarations of any of his co-defendants acting or speaking individually, singly or alone and not in his presence.

Alleged Errors on Testimony.

The Court erred in permitting the witnesses, Isaac D. Kelley, Mrs. Catherine McBride Kelley, W. D. Orthwein, Mrs. W. D. Orthwein and Donald Bixby to testify that the defendant and Nellie Muench were seen together at the Coronado Hotel in St. Louis on April 4, 1931.

That Fiedler should not have been permitted to testify to alleged conversations between himself and Felix McDonald and Bart Davitt, concerning the presence of the defendant at Fiedler's place and his alleged participation in the kidnaping and conspiracy on the evening and night of April 20, 1931.

The Court erred in permitting Fiedler to testify to alleged conversations with McDonald wherein it was claimed by Fiedler that McDonald told him that he wanted to call Mrs. Muench over the telephone and obtain the name of a doctor in Chicago.

The Court erred in permitting the witness Fiedler to testify that McDonald and Davitt told him on the night of April 20, 1931, that they were going out to "snatch" Kelley and asked the witness to wish them luck.

That Dr. Kelley should not have been allowed to testify to alleged conversations occurring during the time of his alleged captivity between himself and persons other than the defendant, and not shown to have been in the presence or hearing of the defendant.

The Court erred in permitting

Mrs. Landau and Miss Sieman to testify in rebuttal that they had seen the defendant enter the house of Nellie Muench many times.

Attack on Instructions.

Instruction 3 is inconsistent with instructions 6 and 2. Instruction 3 is erroneous and bad because it assumes the conspiracy in question was "accomplished or abandoned" and in either event authorizes the jury to regard the acts and declarations of any of the defendant's co-defendants, done or made singly, individually or alone and not in his presence, as the acts or declarations of the defendant.

Instruction 3 is erroneous and bad because it assumes the conspiracy in question was "accomplished or abandoned" and in either event authorizes the jury to regard the acts and declarations of any of the defendant's co-defendants, done or made singly, individually or alone and not in his presence, as the acts and declarations of the defendant.

The Court erred in permitting Fiedler to relate alleged conversation with McDonald, Davitt, and Tommy Hayes concerning an alleged conversation occurring out of the presence and hearing of the defendant.

The Court erred in permitting Mrs. Kelley to testify to alleged conversation with the defendant, Dr. Kelley, which were out of the presence and hearing of the defendant.

The Court erred in permitting Randall Meyers to testify in rebuttal that he had seen the defendant and Mrs. Muench in a tavern during the early part of February, 1934.

Incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and hearsay evidence was admitted over the objection and exception of the defendant.

Mrs. Kelley was permitted to testify to hearsay and immaterial evidence as to a conversation having been had between her and Mrs. Muench at her home.

Charge of Hearsay.

The Court erred in refusing to strike from the record the conversation testified to by Mrs. Kelley as having been had between her and Mrs. Muench at her home, for the reason that it was hearsay and immaterial.

Immaterial and hearsay evidence of Kelley as to conversation between her and Mrs. Muench, was admitted. Incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and hearsay evidence of Mrs. Kelley about the conversation of Dr. Kelley with some person over the phone on the night of April 20, 1931, was also admitted.

The Court erred in permitting the hearsay evidence of meetings and conversations of Edna Booker had with Rosegrant, her father, McDonald and others, in 1930, 1931 and 1932, for the reason that the conversations and meeting were immaterial, irrelevant and hearsay, and based on the unlawful agreement as given in evidence, and after the completion of unlawful agreement and offense.

The Court erred in refusing to discharge the jury on the motion of the defendant after Dr. Kelley had stated in the presence and hearing of the jury that Johnson, who was jointly charged in the indictment, had been murdered.

The jury panel should have been dismissed on motion of the defendant on Sept. 26, because of the fact that the St. Louis Post-Dispatch had published a resume of the State's evidence against the four defendants, as brought out in habeas corpus hearings and depositions taken by the defense before the jury was selected and while they were separated and not in the custody of the Sheriff, and after 17 of the jurors had been qualified for jury duty.

State Arguments Attacked.

The Court erred in permitting Prosecuting Attorney Anderson to make illegal and improper remarks to the jury in his closing argument to the jury.

The Court erred in permitting Prosecuting Attorney Anderson and Associate Prosecuting Attorney Wolfe to make improper statements and propound improper questions contrary to and against repeated admonitions and rulings of the Court, in the presence and hearing of the jury and for no other purpose than to inflame and prejudice the jury.

Wolfe made improper and illegal arguments to the jury in his opening argument.

RUSSIAN THISTLES CUT AS HAY BY FARMERS IN DROUTH AREA

Said to Make Satisfactory Feed for Cattle and Sheep if Harvested Early.

AMARILLO, Tex.—Many farmers in the drouth-stricken Middle West and Southwest harvested Russian thistles for feed.

C. W. Warburton, national director of extension work, says: "Russian thistles, if cut for hay before too mature, make satisfactory cattle and sheep feed when supplemented with a little cottonseed meal or similar high-protein concentrate." Warburton said the thistles were not as satisfactory for silage.

Dr. R. T. Lee, Dallam County agent, says: "Addition of about four pounds of salt to each ton of thistles improves the quality, makes them cure better and prevents molding. Salt also adds to the flavor, apparently making the cattle relish the thistle hay."

PRESIDENT LIKELY TO SPEAK ON VETERANS' LEGISLATION

May Consider It Soon in Talk at New Hospital at Roanoke, Va.

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt goes into Virginia soon for three days and there is a possibility that in a Roanoke speech he may lay a new groundwork of administration plans for War Veterans' legislation in the next Congress.

The President will dedicate a veterans' hospital at Roanoke and receive an honorary degree at Williamsburg from William and Mary, one of North America's oldest colleges. The dates have been set as the 19th and 20th. Tentatively, Roanoke is scheduled for the 19th, with the President reserving the privilege of interchanging with Williamsburg.

The effect of the "New Deal" on veterans and possibly plans for the future are expected to form the major part of the hospital dedication speech. Special significance is attached to it because the American Legion's national convention opens at Miami, Fla., on the 22d.

SPECIAL HALF DOLLARS MINTED FOR TEXAS CENTENNIAL IN 1935

5000 Coined at Philadelphia; 1,500,000 Authorized by Congress.

WASHINGTON.—The Treasury has announced that 5000 special 50-cent pieces have been turned out by the Philadelphia mint in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Texas independence, which will be celebrated next year.

Congress authorized the coining of 1,500,000 of the half-dollars, but the work has been held up while the American Legion Texas Centennial Committee in Augustine prepares estimates on the number needed.

On one side of the coin a standing eagle is superimposed on the lone star of Texas. On the reverse are the likenesses of Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston, and legends, "Texas Independence Centennial," and "Remember the Alamo." Costs of the special coins have been paid by the Centennial Committee.

ST. LOUISANS' MURALS
SKETCHED UNDER SEA

Paintings of Submarine Life Being Installed in Home of Marion L. J. Lambert.

Mural paintings depicting under-sea life are being installed in a basement room at the home of Marion L. J. Lambert, 22 Portland place, where they will provide an appropriate setting for his mounted sail fish, tarpon and other trophies of fishing expeditions.

The paintings are by Chris E. Olsen, of the staff of the American Museum of Natural History. Olsen's specialty is painting while seated on the ocean bottom, clad in a bathing suit and diving helmet. Sketches for Lambert's murals were made in that fashion.

Panel of the mural are six feet high and aggregate 68 feet in length. The underwater scene, in the artist's conception, begins at 12 feet down in the panels nearest the door, and at the far end drops abruptly from a 30-foot level to untold depths, so that the observer, advancing into the room, finds himself constantly in deeper water.

Varieties of Fish Shown.
In the shoals, the water is a pale, milky blue, wherein gleam the fins of such brightly colored reef fishes as blue angels, blue heads, mariposa, slippery dicks and goat fish, gliding in and out amidst opalescent coral posts, elk horn coral and slender waving sea bushes, sea whips and sea fans.

Toward the center of the room the blue becomes richer and there, at a depth of 20 feet, are a school of black angel fish, three clup sponges, schools of diaphanous jelly fish and squadrons of yellow tail, while on the dimly-seen ocean floor lie the broken arms of elk horn coral.

At the 30-foot depth a sheephead and a school of lean hound fish swim through the deep pearl blue water. The last outposts of coral loom in the depths as the ocean floor drops sharply away.

Olsen sketches with a knife. Most of Olsen's work has been done off Andors Island near Nassau, in the Bahamas. There he made his sketches for the decorations in the American Museum of Natural History, which form backgrounds for stuffed barracudas and specimens of coral foundations. Olsen has been associated with the museum, where he has the title "preparator," since 1916. He is 34 years old.

When working under water he uses a palette knife, instead of brushes, which would float to the surface if he released his hold on them. Regular oil paints are applied with the knife to a glass plate covered with primed canvas. The painter, Olsen says, takes to the canvas as well under water as above ground.

Lambert read of Olsen's work in magazines which illustrated some of his pictures and conceived the idea of having the murals done for his game room.

FAMILY GETS WHOLE ESTATE OF ALBERT S. FRAMPTON

Automobile Dealer's Will Leaves $15,000 Outright and the Remainder in Trust.

The will of Albert S. Frampton, automobile dealer, was filed in Probate Court at Clayton today, leaving his entire estate, outright and part in trust, to his widow, Mrs. Anna Mary Frampton, and members of his family.

The widow is to receive $10,000 in cash now and his mother, Mrs. Annie N. Robling, of Riverside, Cal., $5,000. The rest of the estate is left in a trust fund, the income of which is to be divided in equal shares between the widow and three children, Albert S. Frampton Jr., Miss Clara Louise Frampton and Mrs. Ruth Frampton Selber.

The will directs that the son should receive $10,000 of his share in the estate when he is 28 years old to establish himself in business and another $10,000 when he marries. The daughters are to receive $5,000 when they marry or become 20 years old. All of the children are to receive their shares in the estate when they reach the age of 40.

No estimate of the value of the estate was given. Frampton, who resided at 433 Baker avenue, Webster Groves, died Oct. 1. He was vice-president of the Hudson-Frampton Motor Car Co.

ZIEGFELD FOLLIES TO BE

Board of Estimate and Apportionment Approves Contract for $3000 Rent.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday approved a contract to permit the Ziegfeld Follies to use the Municipal Auditorium on the week of Nov. 4, for $3000 rent.

Deputy Comptroller Cunningham said that the Follies representatives had at first suggested that the city receive part of the proceeds of the show, but when the Board of Estimate rejected this proposal, it was agreed to permit use of the Auditorium on a flat rental basis.

At a recent meeting of the board, Paul Beisman, manager of the American Theater, and other local theatrical representatives, protested against permitting the Follies to use the building on the ground that the city would be competing with private theater enterprises. City Counselor Hay, however, gave the board an opinion that the city had the right to rent any portion of the Auditorium for any purpose.

OHIO M. E. BISHOP SUEDE
ON CHURCH BOND ISSUE

W. C. Biting Jr., St. Louis Broker, Acts on Behalf of Holders of $24,500 of Paper.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 9.—Suit for $24,500 was filed against Bishop H. Lester Smith of the Methodist Episcopal Church today by William C. Biting Jr., St. Louis investment banker, acting for holders of $24,500 in Methodist bonds. The petition alleges the bonds are partly in default and constitute an obligation of the Bishop, although issued with the approval of his predecessor.

Biting, as co-trustee of $654,000 in Methodist bonds, alleged to be in default, recently filed suit for that amount plus interest against the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church, alleging default.

Biting, who has assailed the Methodist Church for defaulting on bond issues in Missouri, Ohio and California while spending money on foreign missions, said today that the suit involved a question of pivotal importance from the viewpoint of nation-wide Methodist financing. "While the amount involved is small, the money due is of great moment to a small investor," he said. "Bishop Smith, who served his apprenticeship in the Orient and in his own strange words hails from 'somewhere east of Suez,' wrote that he did not issue the notes and did not recognize any personal responsibility, saying the obligation had no standing different from that of any other Methodist obligations in his area. I feel that the ethics of his statement speak for themselves. "We have been trying to avoid this litigation ever since the law-making body of the church decreed in 1932 that the good name and credit of Methodism had to be preserved, but the present Bishop did little at a final conference less than a month ago but talk of 'securious publicity.'"

ST. LOUIS BETTORS

PROFIT ON CARDINALS

$300,000 Handled by Tom Kearney, 3 Times More Than on 1931 World Series.

Hometown followers of the Cardinals profited handsomely on wagers they placed through Tom Kearney, veteran betting commissioner. Upwards of $300,000 in bets on the world series were placed with Kearney, more than three times the total in 1931, the last previous year in which the Cardinals participated in the world series.

Most of the Detroit money, Kearney said, came from other cities. St. Louisans rather generally favoring the Cardinals. On yesterday's game Kearney paid off on two big bets, one fan who had risked $6000 collecting $4000, and another who gambled with $5000 of his money getting $3500.

The money paid out, however, was not Kearney's, but that of optimistic Detroit followers. "What," he scoffed, "with seven chances to win, I should lose? If that happened I'd have my head examined."

Bets placed with Kearney on the first six games of the series averaged about $30,000 a day, and yesterday stepped up to about $40,000. He offered 3 to 5 on the Cardinals yesterday, and 6 to 5 on Detroit. The Detroit odds, he said, were the best offered in the country and that brought a heavy play on Detroit to him, enabling him to win about $4000 on the day. Prior to yesterday, Kearney said, he was about $1000 ahead of the bettors.

Kearney was at loss to explain the heavy increase in betting on the series. "Maybe it's just that they're not betting on the stock market any more," he suggested. "It looked as though they had forgotten all about the stock market, the ponies and everything else the way the baseball bets poured in. Well, they got good prices, and quick action, and I guess they were satisfied."

Before the series opened Kearney offered 15 to 1 that Detroit would not take four straight, and 14 to 1 that the Cardinals could not do that. He figured, correctly, that Dizzy Dean and Schoolboy Rowe would each win the first game they pitched. But Cardinal followers jumped so eagerly at this proposition that Kearney was forced to cut the odds against them down to 8 to 1.

He made the Cardinals favorites to win the series, offering 7 to 10, and held Detroit at even money. After the Cardinals had taken the first game, he laid 1 to 2 on them, and 6 to 5 on Detroit to win the series. When Detroit won the second game, Kearney's odds reverted to the 7 to 10 and even money he offered before the series began.

But the Cardinals took the third game, and became 1 to 3 favorites, while Detroit was held at 2 to 1. With the series all even again after the fourth game, the original odds were again posted. Detroit became the favorite, at 1 to 4, after Dizzy Dean was beaten Sunday, while Kearney held the Cardinals at 2½ to 1. When Paul Dean came back to avenge his brother's defeat, Kearney made the Cardinals favorites at 3 to 5, and offered 6 to 5 on Detroit.

Roosevelt Changes Hoover Order. WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt has issued an executive order rescinding the December, 1932, action of President Hoover, which decreed civil service certification without regard to sex unless the Civil Service Commission were of the opinion the job could be done only by men, or only by women. The Civil Service Commission recommended the change, on the ground it had no legal right to restrict the right of choice of appointive officers. Its objections were purely legal. But they also pointed out that a marked reduction had taken place in number of women appointed after the Hoover order was issued.

Today

Another Royal Murder.
Mr. Rockefeller Starts.
In Praise of Beer.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

KING ALEXANDER of Yugoslavia, landing at Marseilles, was the victim of a "good will" mission. He was killed by an assassin, Louis Barthou, former premier of France, who had been shot down at the same time and died later from loss of blood. Their car was "spattered" with blood. King Alexander, 72, was one of the ablest of statesmen, had looked forward to the visit of the King as the beginning of an era of peace.

The King's assassination, on foreign soil, might have precipitated another war. The great assassin, Barthou, was a public enemy. The King's assassination had ordered mobilization of the army on the Italian and Yugoslav frontiers. However, that the world in this case is a certain peace, King Alexander's own death, as that of an international peace, is suggested.

The King's death will give you all a sense of the gravest crimes in Europe since the assassination of President Ducloux in 1932. The King was assassinated in a city dedicated in his honor, to the fact that he had traveled on a warship, escorted by a fleet of French battleships.

King Alexander's death, Queen Marie, in delicate health, had made the journey to Marseilles by train.

The time again emphasizes the organized society and civilization, such as it is, owe their existence to self-preservation. The death among human beings smother their hatreds and gain their murderous impulses. Their strongest emotion is the fear of death for themselves. The dangerous wild beast in the world is the man with murderous intentions. Sufficiently strong to overcome fear of death, the desire to kill, the consequences, are the "running amuck" or "amok" common in the Malay. With them it is a fatal for an individual who has been ill-treated, or maddened by jealousy or losses, or who for other reasons, weary of life, to seize a gun and run through crowds and killing until he is dead.

Desperate crimes have been committed in other countries, among the rulers of India, for instance. The son of the Rajah of Mysore, in the court of Shah, failing in an attempt to kill the Emperor, killed five of his subjects in his fit of rage. Fortunately, for the peace of the world and the success of men's government, the emotions of hatred and envy are overcome by self-preservation. Killings for personal reasons rarely escape immediate punishment and are fortunately rare.

The assassination of the King of Yugoslavia and the Jugo-Slav war of mobilization recall a recent speech by Premier Mussolini in which he warned Jugo-Slavia that the newspapers of Jugo-Slavia accuse their attacks on Italy, particularly offensive attacks, accusing Italian soldiers of cowardice in the great war. It will be a satisfaction to Mussolini to know that Italy was concerned in the attack on King Alexander.

Other news of the day is unimportant compared with the startling news from France. John D. Rockefeller, not delaying the least, has started for Florida accompanied by his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. There is longer life in sun-bathing. Some day swift air transportation will make it possible for old men and women and children that now fight cold and winds in the northern winter to spend that winter somewhere in the United States' sun parlor that comes from Florida on the east, along the gulf coast, and along the Pacific Ocean.

Mr. LaGuardia, Mayor of New York, apparently not fearing hostilities of sincere embattled prohibitionists, tells the brewers, what Thomas Jefferson had told them long ago, that they and their products are the true friends of temperance. Thomas Jefferson, you remember, wrote to the Legislature of Virginia, recommending an English brewer, because he believed that beer was the greatest enemy of drunkenness.

Mr. LaGuardia promises to keep the wild cocktail parties, in New York's property, the Central Park Casino, if the courts will let him.

ST. LOUIS AGAIN ACCLAIMS THE WINNERS OF A WORLD SERIES

Crowd at Union Station giving noisy welcome to the Cardinals as they returned from their triumphs in Detroit to take part in automobile parade through the downtown streets of the city.

A great moment for the Dean family—Paul, Mrs. Jerome Herman Dean and Dizzy himself, in automobile enjoying with the crowd the fun-making of the moment as Tuesday's winning pitcher displayed a sadly limp tiger with four knots in its tail.

Manager Frankie Frisch and the owner of the National League baseball team, Sam Breadon, looking not at all displeased with the cordiality of the reception.

One of the innumerable payoffs of a baseball bet.

Feeling just as youthful and happy as any of the downtown celebrants.

The crowd at Seventh and Washington when the celebration was at its height.

In carnival costumes and spirits, and telling everybody they're happy over the outcome of the 1934 baseball season.

Mutual Consideration of De-

W HEN a fellow takes a girl

when he usually argues. I am but I feel as if I should

I suggest to get this straight, I re-

Evening pleasures must be cause he is suggesting with. "Would you like to go to such and such a place?" "I thought you might like to go to this or that. What evening would you like to go?"

Chic Chapeaux by the St. Louis Designers

By Sylvia Stiles

IF the St. Louis millinery designers have their way, every woman will gather up her early fall headgear and toss it nonchalantly into the trash heap on Oct. 15, a gesture which will be preliminary to the purchase of an entire new hat wardrobe.

The peril of a man appearing on the street in a straw hat after the straw-hat season has officially ended becomes insignificant in comparison to the perils of a woman wearing an autumn chapeau when the winter season has opened.

The new movement to observe a definite winter-hat season similar to the observance of a summer, a spring and an autumn season, gained impetus in St. Louis last night when the Associated Millinery Industries presented the first winter hat show at Hotel Jefferson.

St. Louis was the only city outside of New York to hold such a festival, thereby proving that feminine hat history is being made in our midst.

The show was in preparation for the formal opening of the winter hat promotion in retail stores in all parts of the country next Monday. This will continue for one week, during which the millinery retailers will endeavor to make women winter-conscious about their millinery that they will not think of appearing thereafter in a chapeau which was purchased as early as September.

In order to prove their point that winter millinery should be different from autumn millinery, the St. Louis wholesalers and manufacturers presented styles which were little seen in the early collections. The beret, for example, was gone completely from the exhibition, and the tricorn was seen so seldom that it proved conspicuous. In their place the designers show many different versions of turbans and toques, as well as some brimmed models for sports wear. Those in this last category were nearer the early fall hat styles than any other, the Tyrolean and Miles Standish influences continuing to be popular features.

Four different types of hats were displayed on models who wore from the interior of a mammoth hat box. These were the tweed and other casual sports types for wear with casual clothes. Usually these are ignored in the winter collections, the hat makers in the past assuming undoubtedly that a brimmed hat was not purchased extensively during the cold weather period. However, the increased popularity of tweed clothes for spectator as well as active sports wear is making the winter fashion season more diversified. Novelty tweed fabrics and felts that resembled tweed as well as velvet and batter's plush were emphasized in this collection. Feather and metal pins were noteworthy.

The second classification included close-fitting hats designed primarily for wear with tailored daytime clothes. Here the cossack turban appeared in great numbers and many different versions. The high hat influence was apparent, but designers had modified it to please those who have no lofty millinery ambitions. Hatters' plush, velvet and light weight felt predominated, with some attention being paid to fur fabrics to wear with fur coats.

Afternoon hats and hats for the cocktail hour made up a most extensively collection that was distinct from the others. Turbans and toques with metallic or feather trimmings were the style leaders, with the Russian influence again important. Some hatter's plush and velvet models appeared. All of these hats were designed with trim lines and various high crown suggestions.

The fourth group concentrated attention upon evening modes and, judging by the large number shown, every woman will want at least one evening hat this winter.

The little turban had everything its own way in spite of the fact that some new versions of the "baby bonnet" theme of last winter were presented. Gold, silver or jet black sequins on tulle foundations were arranged in so many different ways that the repeated use of the same idea did not appear monotonous. Flaring veils were significant in this evening group.

A representative number of the hats in the different groups have been sketched. At extreme left is a black velvet toque which has a jockey cap front that is intricately stitched with gold colored thread.
This fits down very snugly over the forehead in a jaunty manner. A fold of the velvet adds height to this hat. It is banded with metallic ribbon that has been gilded so that it forms little quill-like ends when tied. A typical "high hat" is shown second from the left. This is rather severe in its styling, but most effective. The material is black hatter's plush. A wide band of black grain ribbon finishes the top and ties in an intricate bow at the back.

THE back view of the hat in the circle indicates that here is a striking style. Rust colored felt is the material in combination with brown velvet. The felt hat has a brim which sweeps down over the eyes in front and upward abruptly at the back. The shirred flange of the velvet covers only the back of the brim. A long crystal pin is added.

The high hat at right of the circle owes its distinction to swirled strips of black felt which climb upward in a spiral effect. The top, as a result, is much smaller than the bottom so that a peaked look is provided. A silvered quill holds the tiers down at the side front. A flaring veil is added.

At extreme right is an illustration of the turban which is made of fur or fur fabric. This is of simulated black krimmer, and designed so that it has its height broken, thus assuring its greater popularity. A black silk cord circles the crown.
Rhinstone ornaments appear at spaced intervals and give the hat a festive aspect.

Below and at left of the circle in a panel is shown a brimmed hat that illustrates the sportswear trend. It is of rust colored novelty felt that resembles tweed. The brim rises sharply at the back and dips toward the front. The high crown has a little tuck at the top. The quill introduces variegated parrot colors with gold edges.

A sweeping aigrette type of feather adorns the hat sketched at left in the larger panel. This is the most typical of the high hat influence, because while the hat itself is high the feather adds more height.
A tiny rhinstone pin brightens the front.

The evening hat at right in the panel consists of silver sequin bands arranged in swirls on a black tulle foundation. The veil has a large, novelty mesh and flares extravaguantly.

One hundred and fifteen hats selected by a committee of St. Louis retailers were presented in the show which was directed by Major Levy.
A program of entertainment was provided in addition to dinner and dancing. The committee from the Associated Millinery Industries arranging the show included Ben Fishkop, Ben Schneider, George
Sherman and Jerome Sternberg.

Old Ties Keep Early Dreams Of Men Alive

By The Rev. J. F. Newton

CHANCELLOR HITLER, we are told, is discouraging the use of the "old school tie." Of course it may not be true; one hears such queer things today, living as we are in a half-cracked world.

One thinks of the Kipling lines:
"Down to Gehenna and up to the Throne, he travels the fastest who travels alone." In other words, we can go to the devil more quickly, or gain success more swiftly, if we are free from personal ties.

But that is not what Hitler meant, if the report is true. His idea is that the State is everything, the be-all and end-all, swallowing everything else up, which is not our idea by a long way.

To some of us the old school tie is one of the finest things in the life of a man, so long as it does not lead to make us snobs, as it occasionally does; but a snob is better than a robot.

Other things being equal, the man is likely to make the best job of his life who is most influenced by few simple loyalties. The old home, the old church, the old school, the old circle of friends; these are the audience, so to speak, before which a man plays his part in the drama of life; and the actor with no audience is lost.

The praise of the crowd is nothing —unless we can take it home as a trophy to show to the people who value us for our own sake. One pities the man who has won success in life and has no one to be proud of it but himself; it must take the heart out of him.

More pitiful is the plight of the man who is free to make a failure of his life, because there is nobody but himself to be ashamed or sorrowful about it. There is nothing

Recipes for Roast Pork Dinner

By Gladys T. Lang

The menu:
Roast pork
Apple sauce
Artichoke fritters
Hollandaise sauce
Stewed tomatoes Hearts of lettuce with Chutney dressing
Grape pie a la mode.

The recipes:
Roast pork
Salt and pepper and dredge with flour, a five or six pound rib roast of pork. Heat one fourth cup of bacon drippings in roasting pan and in this place the rack of pork. Brown quickly in a hot oven. Add one-half cup of water, two cloves, one bay leaf and one sliced onion.
Cover roast and reduce the heat and cook for two hours, or until the meat is tender, adding more water as needed for basting. Remove meat to platter. Skim off all grease in pan and add two scant tablespoons of flour, which has been stirred until smooth in a little cold water, and add enough water so that there will be two cups of gravy.
Cook until the right consistency,
then strain.

Apple Sauce.
Quarter two pounds of unpeeled apples and cover with water to one-half their depth, adding the juice and grated rind of one lemon. Simmer gently until apples are tender, then pass through a colander. Stir in one cup of sugar until dissolved.

Artichoke Fritters.
Drain artichokes from can.
Make a batter as follows: Beat two eggs with two-thirds cup of milk, add one cup of sifted flour, salt and pepper and beat well.

Slip grapes from skins and reserve skins. Cook the pulp until the seeds loosen, then press through a sieve. Mix this with the skins, sugar, lemon juice, grated orange rind and tapioca and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Mix a very little tapioca and sugar together and sprinkle over dough. Pour in grape mixture, moisten edges of pie, then strip with dough and press with fork around edges.
Bake in a quick oven until crust is colored, then reduce heat and cook about 35 minutes longer.
Cool and serve, topped with whipped or vanilla ice cream.

Keep the Friend.

From now till the last week of November, this year, is the beginning of a good 12 months for cementing friendships, particularly if you were born Dec. 22-31, inclusive. Make mental or other note of those you meet during the next six weeks, for they will probably prove of importance in your future affairs. Finances and friendship may be involved; if so, keep it all on a strictly business basis, with written agreements and notes—if you want to keep the friend, whether you are the lender or the borrower. Famous folks in this group are: Deems Taylor, Barney Ross,

Ann Pennington, Ruth Chatterton,

Your Year Ahead.

In money matters, those whose in local interests and activities.

Short trips also, and contacts with

Wife in Custody

A New Serial

By BEATRICE LUBITZ

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR.
"HERE are our rooms!" Stella demanded.
"Oh, pardon me, do come up. We have three guest rooms. Let me see..." Helen fluttered, "there's an extra room in the attic..."
"I'll take that over the week-end," Belle said cheerfully. "You can use my room, honey."
"Oh, Belle, thanks, darling," Helen gave her a relieved pat. "Angel!" she murmured.
"How long is your sister staying?" Agnes asked. She saw that Belle was young and slim and boyish and her face darkened.
"Belle just graduated from Hunter last month," Helen said as they all went up the broad green carpeted stairs. She tried to keep the note of pride out of her voice, but it crept in spite of her. "She's going to be with me all summer until she gets an appointment to teach in September."

"Oh, really," said Stella. "All summer. So you just graduated from Hunter. Is that a technical school?"
"Why, no, Hunter is a college."
"It's the woman's city college."
"Oh, really. It's a free college, isn't it?"
"Yes, it's the city college."
"Oh," From Stella's tone one would gather that Hunter College was a reform school for girls.
"My sister has a B. A.," Helen added, "and she's only 19. She made college in three years. Isn't she clever?"
"Oh, darling," Belle protested. "I'm not clever at all!"
The others said nothing. Helen showed them to their rooms and while they freshened up Helen went below to consult with Marie, the plump French maid, and to arrange with Anton, Marie's husband, who was combination gardener, chauffeur, butler and handy man to run into town for additional supplies.
"There'll be seven guests over the week-end," Helen fluttered apologetically. "Unconnected," she added placatingly. "Will you serve some cold drinks now, please, and also make some sandwiches, too, please. Marie, I'll help you all I can, Marie."
"That's all right, Mrs. Riley," Marie smiled. "I can manage if they ain't too fussy."
When they came down, Helen was already arranging cakes and sandwiches on the wicker tea table on the porch.
"Lemonade, mother, or a cocktail?" Helen asked brightly.
"Cocktail," Anastasia grinned at her daughter-in-law.
"Mama, your blood pressure!" Agnes remonstrated.
"The deuce with my blood pressure!" Anastasia declared cheerfully. She reached out for the cocktail that Helen rather nervously held.
"Helen, I'll thank you not to give me even sugar cocktails to my mother. You really ought to know better."
"Shut up!" Anastasia commanded sternly. "If Helen wants to offer me a cocktail and I want it, that's none of your business, see?"
Agnes flushed. She drank her cocktail sulkily.
Helen said nothing. She served the others. As she passed the cakes, she caught Belle's look of sympathy and smiled bravely.
"Walter, dear, will you have another drink?"
"But I will," Jerry said as Walter refused. He sat down on the wicker settee beside Belle.
"Did you say you play tennis?"
"Very badly."
"Ah, you must let me discover that for myself. I play rather badly myself, although I won two cups last year. You see, my opponent played worse."
"That was lucky for you."
"Yes, wasn't it?"
"How can you play, darling?" Stella seated herself on the arm of the settee and put her arm possessively about her husband's shoulder. "You didn't bring shoes or a racket."
"Oh, Walter will lend me his, won't you, old man?"
"Sure. What is it you want?"
"Tennis togs."
"Sure. You can take mine."
"Oh, then you can lend me yours. Helen, I'd like to play, too," Belle suggested. "I'm going in for a swim."

"S WIM,"
"Oh, we built a pool!"
"Well, you certainly didn't leave anything out, did you?"
"We tried not to," Walt admitted with forced cheerfulness. "Come on, I'll show you around."
"I say, could we go in for a swim? What'll we use for suits?"
"Oh, I have a couple of extra pairs of trunks about."
They all piled out after Walter. "Come on, darling," Walt said. "Go ahead, dear. I must give some instructions to Anton. I'll meet you at the pool."
"Aren't you coming, Miss Schiller?" Jerry asked.
"I'll wait with my sister, thanks. I'll see you all at the pool."
After they had gone Helen turned to her sister who sat on the gilder swinging her legs and snorting.
"Well, Belle, what do you think of them?"
"My lord, Helen, what an outfit, except the mother. I like her. Yes, so do I. Did you hear Ethel say something about this being a swell place for them all to week-end?" I'm dying!"
"Yes, I heard her. You've made a mistake, my darling. You've just made it too attractive here," Belle declared grimly. "I'm afraid you're out of the frying pan into the fire."
It seemed to Helen that she spent the larger part of the week-end in the kitchen. No sooner was one

TODAY'S PATTERN

Flattering Gown

THE woman with a figure complex (and what woman over size 18 hasn't developed one?) couldn't do better than to choose this becoming gown. Every line of it points its way to figure flattery—the surplus collar with a soft, double frill of contrasting color falling from under it in the front and the paneled skirt which does such pleasant things for larger hips. This dress made of satin would be delightful for afternoon or in a soft sheer wool for the office or for town. Note the carefully placed tucks for fullness where it is most needed.

Pattern 2046 is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and one-half yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

COOK COOS

By Ted Cook

Professor Friedman, Georgia Tech, sends us the following item from the Atlanta Georgian—Glenn Puett, 20, a saxophone player in an Atlanta orchestra, was taken to Emory University Hospital, Monday afternoon suffering from buckshot wounds in the left leg.

According to the story told hospital attendants, Puett had played for a dance at Winder Monday night. Returning to Atlanta they stopped to repair a tire between Winder and Monroe, when a farmer objected to their presence near his home.

Of course, no jury will convict the farmer.
It's been had enough, all these years, what with the boll weevil and everything.

And the farmers certainly don't want a halfta spray for saxophone players.
Says Genevieve, the kitchen cynic: "Something else that goes against the constitution is a reasonably priced blend."

And then there was the indiscreet movie star who got in all the papers while her publicity man was on his vacation.
A gal who is to me heart-rending.

least, I just want to be let alone."
"It's no trouble, Agnes. I'm glad to have you. Now if there's anything you need, just ring and Marie will be glad to get it for you. Belle is driving into town with me for supplies."

As Helen drove into New Brunswick, Belle said: "Well, there goes our happy week. They're progressing. It used to be only week-ends, but she looks planned to me for the rest of the summer."
"What can I do, Belle?"
"Helen, did I hear Agnes say she loathed the country in winter?"
"Yes, they all do. They can't stand the cold."
"You mean, stay here over the winter?"
"Why not? You're not afraid of the cold, are you?"
Helen laughed. "Heavens, no. Besides we've installed a marvelous hot water heating system and an oil burner."
"Don't tell them about it, for heaven's sake!"
"Oh, Belle, I'll ask Walter. I'd love it. Besides," Helen hesitated. "I'm not feeling so well. I think I'm going to have a baby."

"Helen! How marvelous!" Belle's eyes filled with tears. "Now you must stay here where you'll have peace."
"Don't say a word about it yet. I've an appointment with Dr. Johnson this afternoon. Will you come with me, Belle?"
"Of course! What a pity mama can't be here to enjoy your first baby, Helen. She was so fond of children. Poor mama. She never lived to see any of her hopes for us realized."

Helen's eyes blurred as she drove.

Special Sheet Of Six Stamps For Exhibition

U. S. Postoffice Department Issues Commemoratives at Exposition.

FOR the third time, and many collectors hope the last time in 1934, the Postoffice Department has issued a special sheet of six stamps for a philatelic exhibition. The announcement was given out only a few days before the sheet was placed on sale.
This special sheet consists of six commemoratives, the stamps being the one-cent Yosemite, National Park issue. It is gummed and imperforate. The sheet was placed on sale today on the occasion of the Trans-Mississippi philatelic exposition and convention which is being held in Omaha.
This sheet is similar to the special issued for the stamp exhibition held in New York. The stamps on that occasion were the Byrd Little America design.

Collectors throughout the country are regretting that the Postoffice Department is putting out so many commemorative stamps. A petition has also been sent to the Postoffice Department asking that no names of individuals be printed on the margin of these special sheets. Nevertheless, the Postmaster General ordered that his name appear in the usual space. The National Federation of Stamp Clubs and about 90 per cent of clubs not affiliated with this organization, have voiced protests.

So that the first Little America covers may be distinguished from others to follow, the authorities in charge of covers have decided to apply a printed rubber stamp reading, "This letter has been delayed for one year because of difficulties in transportation at Little America in Antarctica." The inscription will be in three lines at the base of the stamp, and will be applied to all covers which did not return this year. The covers sent for the second cancellation will not bear this inscription.

New Issues.

AUSTRIA—A special commemorative memorial stamp will be issued for the late dictator of Austria, Dollfus, who was assassinated in the recent uprising. The stamp will have a face value of 12 groschen, and will be printed in black. The commemorative set for the famous well-known architect, Austria will be issued on the first of November. The 50c. value has been eliminated from this series and will be replaced by a 60c. value. This is because there has been a change in the postal rate of foreign letters.

BELGIUM—The special stamps picturing the new King Leopold III has been issued. There are two values, in different colors. The 75c. plus 25c. olive olive and a 1 fr. plus 15c. lilac, were printed in sheets of 20 stamps. The surcharge was for admittance to the exhibition. Then the same design were taken and printed in brown lical and red-brown respectively, for regular postage. All of the above stamps portray the King. A special Peter Bennett stamp, which was issued a number of months ago, will be withdrawn from sale on Nov. 30 and remainders destroyed.

FINLAND—The centenary of Alexis Kivinen, well known Finnish writer, will be commemorated by a two-mark value.

NORWAY—The Holberg commemoratives will be issued shortly and will consist of a 10 ore, 15 ore, 20 ore and 30 ore denominations.

SPAIN—Three new faces of the new Spanish Republics are to be pictured in the new portrait series, which will be issued shortly. Spanish celebrities will be pictured on the 15c, 40c and 60c values.

TURKEY—The recent red crescent series, of which the one korus appeared, will be completed by the following values: 20 paras, 2 1/2 korus, 5 korus, 10 korus, 20 korus and 50 korus.

Walter Winchell on Broadway Notes from a Columnist's Secretary

Dear W:
I WAS wondering what Maurine Watkins thinks as she reads the raves on "Merrily We Roll Along" . . . Flushed with the success of her play "Chicago" several years ago, Miss Watkins wrote a drama called "The Devil's Diary," which nobody thought worthy of purchase. In it the curtain rose on a wake, a philanthropist dead in his coffin and his beneficiaries and friends lamenting the passing of a noble soul. The play then backtracked into the past disclosing the fellow as a thief and a scoundrel in italics! The managers, including her own (Sam Harris, who owns "Merrily") didn't want it "because it played backward in the past." The sheet is similar to the special issued for the stamp exhibition held in New York. The stamps on that occasion were the Byrd Little America design.

Louise Brooks makes a comeback Oct. 19. Place Pigalle with Dario as her partner. . . . I hear on reputable authority that Trotsky is in town under an assumed name. . . . Add swell stories: I. A. R. Wylie's "Witches Sabbath" in that housekeeping mag. . . . Bella Spewack is giving half the royalties of "Spring Song" to Washington Irving High's scholarship fund and the other half to a nursery she attended when a baby. . . . Mary McCormick the other day said that all men were no good—except one. . . . I learn he is a newspaper man.

Jane Manners, who was in the show jury divisions, and who just returned from Europe, was secretly married a few days ago at Harrison.

Shrimp Cakes
(For luncheon, dinner or supper)
One and one-half pounds cooked shrimps
One-half teaspoon salt
One-fourth teaspoon paprika
One-fourth teaspoon white pepper
One-fourth teaspoon celery salt
Two eggs
One tablespoon finely chopped onions

Carefully clean shrimps, chop and add rest of ingredients. Take a large spoon at a time and pour into deep hot fat. Fry until well browned. Serve immediately.

Apricot and Pineapple Marmalade.
You will always have a supply of this on hand if you try it just once. Wash one pound dried apricots, cut into pieces and let soak over night in water to cover. Add one large can crushed pineapple, first straining off juice and saving it. Add as much sugar as fruit pulp. Return juice to fruit and cook slowly until thickened and clear. Pack into sterilized jars.

Bottles containing flavorings and extracts should be kept tightly corked or they will lose their strength and flavor.

Snaps Instead of Sewing.
If there is any way possible to use snaps instead of sewing on the washable collars and cuffs that are on so many dresses, by all means do so. It is such a help when they become soiled.

No Mucilage.
If you have a stamp for a letter having no mucilage on the back, are in haste to use it, take a paper envelope and dampen the glue in the flap. Now run the stamp on the dampened glue and immediately place it on the letter to be mailed. It will be quite secure.

Protects!
Renders a "weather-proof" complexion of entrancing beauty that neither sun nor wind or water can destroy. Enjoy the outdoors without fear of sunburn, tan or roughened skin.

Quick-Dick Has a Plan to Show How Fast He Is

By Mary Graham Bonner

"NOW," thought Willy Nilly, "I won't ask Quick-Dick to help me until he has been here for a little while. It wouldn't be fair to get him to begin working at once." So Willy Nilly started to tidy up his place, which was a great confusion.

The Puddle Muddlers were talking to Quick-Dick, and he was telling them of many of his experiences. What an exciting life he had led. Filled with hurry and danger and thrills quickly.

But the Puddle Muddlers had their own excitement, too, and Quick-Dick was interested in hearing about them.

But when they told him about the fire and how Rip had rescued the children in the next village, and how they had stamped out the sparks and how Henry Bear fought the fire around the cave, protect her cubs, then Quick-Dick ears stood up quiveringly.

"Tell me more, tell me more," begged. "Were the flames high? Did the leap and curl? Was the smoke thick? Could you hardly breathe?"

"Oh, tell it all to me again, leaving out a single thing."

When they had finished, Quick-Dick had told them another story of his days and nights as a fire horse, he said quickly. "You know, all this is almost too much for me. Smelling that smoke as we were on our way here, and all this talk about fires has made me so homesick for a good fire. I've got a scheme. Why don't I start a fire and then I'll show you how quick Quick-Dick can be? Yes, I'll tell you what to do. So often heard how fires started."

No Mucilage.

If you have a stamp for a letter having no mucilage on the back, are in haste to use it, take a paper envelope and dampen the glue in the flap. Now run the stamp on the dampened glue and immediately place it on the letter to be mailed. It will be quite secure.

Snaps Instead of Sewing.

Either Way, It Doesn't Last

BY ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

SUPREME COURT will scrutinize validity of congressional dollar in its ratio to gold.

All witnesses will please bring samples.

Moist spectators will please stay away. We are going to find out if the recovery dollar is all it should be.

Nine judges will form an intellectual huddle around the Roosevelt monetary football and then rush to a decision on five-yard plunges.

If Congress did wrong, the contrite Senators will demand another four years in Washington in which to repent.
